Certain Foolish Rich Men Nothing Like Success Superstition and Guns Rockefeller to Johns Hopkins

ALTON B. PARKER, who once ran for President, and ran very gently, says Theodore Roosevelt's rich friends poured out gigantic sums to defeat him, Parker.

Roosevelt is dead physically; Parker is dead, politically, and that's all old stuff. If it's so, those rich men, pouring out their gold to beat Mr. Parker, were in need of guardians. There was no more possibility of electing Mr. Parker that time than there is of electing Mr. Cox, who once also ran, this time. And you can't say more than that.

DISSATISFIED, German Communists have disfigured all attsinable Hohenzollern statues with red paint. Among them all only Frederick the Great was spared.

Frederick won his fights and nothing succeeds like success.

Had William Hohenzollern won his fight, and he was near winning, at one time, no red paint would have disfigured his bronze majesty.

THIS country is sending machine guns to "suppress religious fanatics" in remote parts of the Philippines. It appears that in one religious outbreak, on an island off Mindanao, about one hundred were killed, because American soldiers broke a "holy tank" containing miraculous, sacred waters. Soldiers say the natives, with all sorts of diseases, bathed in the tank, and spread disease, so they broke it and let the foul water out.

THERE is nothing more dangerous than religious superstition, all history proves it, and only education can combat it.

THE British learned that, when they compelled native soldiers to bite cartridges smeared with tallow and pig fat. The Hindu considered the cow sacred; the pig is abhorrent to the Mohammedan religion. They rose in the great mutiny and killed many Britishers. The latter, in return, had the mutineers fired from the mouths of cannon, knowing that another superstition told the natives they could never know immortal bliss, if their bodies were shot to pieces.

NOW THE British act more wisely. We might study their methods for use in the Philippines. Except in extreme cases, the machine gun is a poor cure for superstition. The clever French, combating superstition in their African possessions, sent over their cleverest magician, Robert Houdin. He did tricks that made the sacred holy men of Algiers look like children. Especially, when the holy men took hold of the magician's electric battery, and could not let go. To fight superstition, here or in the Philippines, make it ridiculous.

THE RECORD shows that John D. Rockefeller gave sixteen million dollars, for useful work in one year. Six millionr went to the School of Hygiene and Public Health at Johns Hopkins University. In that admirable institution, the ablest scientists give their time and knowledge, for barely enough to live on, and intelligent rich men give their money. A good combination.

WHILE the people lack intelligence to manage their own affairs, and develop their own resources, for their own public institutions, they should

Suitor Fires Shots at Revere Countess

ADMIRER IS ACCUSED BY GIRL HE SLASHED

Despite Second Attempt on Her Life, She Declares She Won't Prosecute

Three shots rang out upon the midnight air of Revere, Patrolman Harry McKinley ran like a fire-horse to No. 405 Parkway, where Helen Keefe Vladimir—none other than the former Countess Von Motz—told him the shooter was Caro Vaccarro of East Boston, and nothing is going to be done about it. "I like the lad," says Mrs. Vladimir.

Vaccarro, 29 years old, then of No. 121 Curtis street, East Boston, was arrested on December 18 for slashing the young woman's face with a razor. In the Chelsea Court he was sentenced to jail for one year. His appeal from that sentence is on today's calendar in the Superior Court.

"But I shall not appear there," declared Helen Keefe Vladimir, 26, former show girl and former Countess.

The shooting, Mrs Vladimir says, occurred in the early morning. Vaccarro, she declares, followed her home. They had almost reached her door when, according to her story, Vaccarro drew a revolver and fired three shots. What they hit, if anything, has not been determined. Vaccarro, she declares, ran away. The policeman arrived and the Countess told her story.

FILED INTENTIONS.

"I shall not marry the lad—the razor business was bad enough, but these last three shots make him utterly impossible—yet I confess I like him, while at the same time I fear him. I shall not testify against him unless I actually am compelled to do so."

Interesting? You haven't heard the half of it! What do you suppose this Caro Vaccarro boy does, only a few hours after the three shots ringing out upon the midnight air and Harry McKinley galloping up to the Keefe door like three horses

ENROLMENT AT HARVARD TO BE CUT

Increasing Number Applying for Admission Makes It Necessary, Says Pres. Lowell

The problems raised by the increased number of students, the question of the advisability of limiting the number of students in the college, with the attendant difficulties of deciding upon the method of selection, and the efforts to raise the minimum level of undergraduate scholarship were the subjects discussed by President A. Lawrence Lowell in his annual report to the Board of Overseers of Harvard University.

President Lowell urged the establishment of a selective process based upon scholarship and character as a means of limiting admission of students, the establishment of an honor and pass degree, such as is used in English colleges, as a means of raising the minimum level of scholarship, and the continuation of the practice of the interchange of professors "to maintain a common nationality of thought and culture."

President Lowell

"The idea of limiting the number of students in the college," said President Lowell, "is not agreeable, and no one would propose it as a finality, or suggest that there is here some permanent size of maximum usefulness; but for a time teaching staff and equipment may render it impossible to do full justice to more than a definite number at a time. This is in fact our situation today, as it is also at Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and other colleges which have limited the number of their students."

"Excessive importance attributed to athletic sports by the alumni," charges President Lowell, "tends to smother the regard and desire for high scholarship.

THOUSANDS RUSH TO BUY TICKETS

Both Stations Thronged on Last Day of Sale Before Fare Boost Is On

The Boston & Maine and New Haven railroad offices were stormed today by people striving to buy twelve-ride and monthly tickets at the old rate, which expires at midnight tonight. Tickets issued today will be good until February 1, and are 20 per cent. cheaper than those to be issued after midnight tonight.

The long lines at the ticket offices formed as early as 7 o'clock. The jam was especially thick at the South Station.

An even greater crowd is expected tonight and plans have been made to accomodate everyone. Thousands of blocks of tickets are piled up at the South Station ticket offices in readiness.

No one is buying more than two 12-ride tickets, due to the fact that they will be useless after January 31. Any old tickets held by commutors after that date will be exchanged for what they cost, by the railroad company.

A public mass meeting to protest the action of the Public Utilities Commission in granting the increase will be held in Boston this week.

Ex-Senator Charles A. Dean, president of the Boston Commuters Association, who has called the meeting, is mustering all the forces of the commuters in an attempt to obtain legislative action against the decision of the Commission.

Charles A. Dean

The time and place of the Dean meeting will be announced early this week.

Alderman Charles A. Coughlin of Medford today filed with the Public Utilities Commission a petition asking that their increase in twelve-ride and monthly tickets, effective at midnight tonight, be postponed until January 15. This, he explained, would allow sufficient time for action by the Medford Board of Aldermen, which meets tomorrow night.

Meanwhile the Legislature had before it several bills seeking the suspension of the increase granted by the Commission. Ex-Senator Dean is the latest one to file a bill to this effect. He asks that the Legislature order that the decision of Commission be revoked and that the railroads be ordered to retain the fare rate as of December, 1920.

A similar bill asking that the in-

There were three royal coaches with prancing black horses and postillion riders. The royal footmen wore uniforms of gold and scarlet with cocked hats.

After the official business a reception was held at the palace. Ambassador and Mrs. Kellogg were invited to lunch with King George and Queen Mary.

POLICE AID IN LURING VICTIMS

Boston Miss Bares Story of Daring Ring After Escape in St. John, N. B.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 14.—An amazing story of a white slave gang operating in eastern Canada and sending girls to Boston and New York was unfolded by Nellie Miller, a fifteen-year-old Boston girl, after she had escaped from a room where she had been chained to the wall for two weeks.

In her story the girl charges members of the St. John police force with being in the white slave ring and tells of conversations in the room adjoining her imprvised prison which implicated the officers.

The Miller girl came to Canada in the shorts of what is known as a "Tab" show, a sort of a burlesque musical comedy company. The company became stranded in eastern Canada.

Two men got her into the room which later became her prison and chained her to a metal brace which had been bolted to the wall.

"I screamed for help until my voice grew hoarse," said the girl, "and pounded on the wall but was unable to bring help from inside the rooming house."

The girl says she heard members

CASS, EX-FIGHTER PROMOTER, HELD AS RUM PIRATE

Long suspected of connection with the raid on the British rum runner J. Scott Hankinson, which was boarded off Gloucester last August by pirates who shot the cook and skipper of the ship and made off with several thousand dollars in cash, Ray Cass, former Boston fight promoter, was arrested in the corridor of the Federal Building today, charged with piracy. He was identified by Captain Arthur Moore, captain of the J. Scott Hankinson.

GASOLINE PRICE BOOSTED 2 CENTS

The Boston office of the Standard Oil Company of New York today announced a two-cent advance in the price of gasoline, effective tomorrow. This brings the wholesale price for Boston and New England to 17½ cents. Filling station prices will jump from 17 to 19 cents at the same time.

New York, Jan. 14.—An advance of 2 cents a gallon in the tank wagon price of gasoline was made today by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey throughout its domestic territory. The new price is 17½ cents a gallon. The Texas Company immediately met the increase. The jump from 17 to 19 cents at the same time.

TRAWLER, 22 MEN, HELPLESS AT SEA

Helpless at sea, with a crew of 22 men on board and her propeller gone, the steam trawler "Mariner" is tossing about at the mercy of the wind and waves with nothing but a thin anchor chain between her and certain destruction.

The vessel, which is owned by Ohara Brothers of Boston, was dragging its net over the shoals near George's bank when the propeller snapped off and sunk.

Captain William Hayes, of Boston immediately gave orders for the anchor to be let go.

An hour later the fishing schooner Herbert Parker passed nearby and the "Mariner" signalled the schooner requesting her to take one of the disabled ship's crew as far as Provincetown to report the accident.

Another bill was filed in the Legislature by Mayor Curley calling for the election by the people rather than the appointment by the Governor of members of the Public Utilities Commission.

Officials of the city of Medford have announced their intention of petitioning the Supreme Court to restrain the railroads from putting the increase into effect.

President Ioan declared:

"From the latest evidence that I have gathered, there seems to have been no justification for the decision of the Public Utilities Commission. "The men now serving on the Public Utilities Board are not capable of doing the important work they are called upon to perform. However, the fight against the railroads has only just begun."

Help Germany Get on Feet, Urges "Hell 'n Maria"

Paris, Jan. 14.—Charles G. Dawes of "Hell'n Maria" fame assumed his duties as head of the inter-allied commission to study Germany's finance today by declaring that the commission needed first to help Germany get on her feet. He flayed the office-seeking economists of the United States for their false theories, and concluded his address by saying:

"The reparations commission and the world have been listening to medical experts. Let us first help Germany to get well. Then we can devise a system for stabilizing German currency. Let us start Germany on the road to productivity. When this is established, we will be at the starting point of European prosperity."

Dawes said he was well satisfied with the outlook.

CREW HELPLESS

The schooner's captain agreed and one of the Mariner's crew rowed off in a dory, miraculously escaping destruction in the long swells that were running and was swung on board the schooner.

At Provincetown this man was put off and he immediately notified the Obarm Boehne by telephone of the condition and whereabouts of the Mariner.

The owners got in touch with the Coast Guard divisional commander in the Custom House, who ordered the Coast Guard cutter Acushnet, tied up at Wood's Hole, Cape Cod, to the rescue.

The Acushnet is steaming at full speed to succor the disabled trawler, and twenty-two men are manning the rail of a storm-tossed ship, straining their eyes for sight of the smoke of a rescuer.

OPPOSES PLAN FOR MOVING SUBWAY EXIT

Transit Board Head Says Fin. Com. Idea in Scollay Sq. Would Cost Millions

The Finance Commission wants the subway structure in Scollay square, opposite Brattle street, removed.

Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the Transit Commission, says it can't be done, as it would cost millions, because it would necessitate a rebuilding of the underground system.

The recommendation for the removal of the subway structure is contained in the report of the Finance Commission on the proposed Cambridge street widening.

The last Legislature authorized the widening of Cambridge street to 100 feet. The members of the commission declare that the law becomes imperative unless the street is made the full width the entire distance. Therefore it urges that the present subway exit in the middle of Scollay square, as shown in the above pictures, be moved to the sidewalk and that the street be widened to 100 feet, including sidewalks on the Tremont row and Court street sides of the square.

BENCH PARLEY HALTS TRIAL OF CORCORAN

Hurvitz Makes His First Appearance as a Prosecutor Examining Witnesses

The trial of William J. Corcoran and Harry E. Levenson, alleged leaders of Boston's blackmail ring, was halted for some time today and the jury sent from the courtroom while counsel for the State and defence engaged in lengthy conference at the bench with Judge McLaughlin.

Nature of the conference was not made public other than the explanation that the conference was "important."

Another feature at the resumption of the trial today was the appearance of Assistant Attorney-General Albert Hurwitz conducting the questioning of witnesses for the Commonwealth. This has been done previously by Prosecutor Hill.

Attorney John W. Connelly again took the stand and completed his testimony. He had an office in the suite occupied by Levenson in 1919. Connelly said he recalled Mrs. Duggan having visited the office several times, but could not say that he ever saw her enter Mr. Levenson's private office.

Alfred E. Levers of Saxon street, Dorchester, a former Pinkerton detective, told of having been assigned to follow a woman he says was Mrs. Duggan on June 6, 1919. He told of following his "subject" for sixteen days and of her going into the Pemberton Building, where Levenson has his office, nearly every day.

New Bonus Bill

Washington, Jan. 14.—Another soldiers' bonus bill was proposed today in the Senate. CRUEL FATHER SAWS SON'S ARM TO THE BONE

Inhuman Worcester Man Also Stabs Another Son With Scissors

Worcester, Jan. 14.—John Simkus, forty, of No. 82 Lafayette street, is accused of being an inhuman father.

Six-year-old John Simkus, Jr., staggered into Police Station No. 3 with a wicked-looking pair of scissors sticking from his chest and told the police his father had punished him by throwing the scissors at him. The child was rushed to the City Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from blood poisoning.

The police went to the Simkus home and there found John's brother Anthony, ten years old, with a fractured arm, the result of a jagged cut. Anthony told the police he was cutting wood in the cellar with his father several days ago. His father flew into a rage because little Anthony wasn't heavy enough to keep the log he was sitting on from moving while the father plied the saw.

To punish Anthony the father placed the boy's arm on the sawhorse and sawed it to the bone, ignoring his son's agonized screams. Anthony was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Simkus told the police that to prevent her from leaving the house last week her husband tore her dress to shreds.

The police are looking for Simkus, who was employed by the American Steel & Wire Company of Worcester.

SHOOT AT GIRL

on Ladder No. 1, but drop around to the office of the City Clerk in Revere's City Hall and get him a license to marry Helen Keefe Vladimir, the girl whose beauty he disfigured, the girl on whom he says he spent $12,000, the girl for attacking he received the one-year sentence which is up for final decision today in the Superior Court.

TO WED OIL MAN.

Knowing nothing whatever about this filing of a matrimonial intention, she says, young Mrs. Vladimir came into Boston last Saturday night and promised to marry William Batchelder, thirty, a wealthy oil man, of No. 1213 Houghton Boulevard, Pasadena, Calif. They had known each other five years, having met in New York, N. Y., when Helen Keefe was a slip of a girl in one of those Broadway choruses.

One hour after they plighted their troth, Mr. Batchelder was hieing it back to New York on the sleeper. Helen is going over next month, and on the fifteenth of February they'll be married and start for Pasadena, where the roses bloom and the little birds sing night and day the whole year round.

Mr. Batchelder's present to the little girl was a $2,500 ring, a trifling thing of butterfly design set with twenty-four small diamonds.

LOVES BILL, LIKES CAR.

"I love William," the Countess says of the oil man, "and I know we will be happy. I like Caro Vaccarro—really like him—but I can see no happiness in a union mixed with knives, razors and shooting irons. At the same time, I wouldn't see the lad harmed. All I want is to have him keep away from me, and you know what the fare to Pasadena is."

What the Count Von Motz is going to say about all this—the Count Paul Von Motz, of Copenhagen, Denmark—is a matter for conjecture. The count, who was No. 2 on Helen Keefe's list of husbands, was divorced at the end of two years, she says, on the grounds of non-support. Before that she was Mrs. Vladimir, a name she resumed, by permission of the court, on account of the little one.

Heavy Seas Continue Off Newfoundland; Liners Weather Storm

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 14.—Heavy seas continued off the Newfoundland coast today. Three United States bound transatlantic liners, arriving today reported a hurricane three days out.

Four schooners are known to have been lost in the storm which has blown for the past week.

A toll of twenty-five lives has been recorded, and grave fear was expressed today for the crews of two other lumber ships long overdue here.

The liners Antonio of the Cunard line, Belgenland of the Red Star line and the Columbia from Scotland came through the mountainous seas without damage.

New York, Jan. 14.—The steamer Galileo en route from abroad to New York, wirelessed today that she had picked up the crew of the wrecked Lunenburg schooner, J. W. Comeau. No details were given in the message. The Galileo will arrive tomorrow.

The J. W. Comeau, bound from Lunenburg for Barbadoes with lumber, was last reported afire on Jan. 9, about 700 miles east of New York.

of the ring talking and found that she was to be taken to New York by automobile. Heavy snows delayed the arrival of the machine, which, she says, was returning from New York and Boston after taking down a load of girls.

As days passed the conversations in the next room kept the Miller girl informed as to the progress of the machine toward Pa. John. Then came the day when she heard that the machine was due to arrive.

In desperation the girl pried away the iron chains from the bar, reeled to the window and leaped twenty feet below into a snow bank.

For thirty minutes the girl lay recovering consciousness. Then she staggered to her feet and went to the police with her story.

Investigation here bore out that much of the girl's story is true. Those familiar with the underworld says that white slavers have been active for some time recruiting girls for white slave traffic in Boston and New York.

50 GIRLS SHIPPED OUT.

About fifty girls have been shipped out of here in the past three months. All have been smuggled across the border in motor cars.

Headquarters for the gang is supposed to be located in this city.

Despite the fact that the Miller girl has made formal complaint to the police here, on action has been taken. The two men named by her are still in town, but have not been arrested.

The girl is being sheltered at the home of a local woman, pending the collection of enough money to transport her back to Boston. Her relatives in Boston are poor and unable to assist her.

thank Providence that intelligent rich men do the work for them.

IN Rochester, iodine is put in the public water supply, to combat goitre. Iodine tablets are given to school children in Syracuse, and there is no doubt as to the good results. Twice a year, for three weeks each time, the iodine is put in the water supply. In three weeks, the thyroid gland takes up the iodine it needs to fight goitre for six months.

THAT opens up possibilities of the wholesale treatment of disease; important and encouraging. Those who deny the existence of sickness or evil won't object. If there is no evil, the iodine can't be evil and can't do any harm. Medicating a water supply, to cure wholesale, is an improvement of the ancient poisoning of wells which nations solemnly gave up, by international treaty.

JUST as British labor comes to power, strikes threaten to tie up the whole country, and make Ramsay MacDonald's job doubly difficult.

And labor will not stretch a point, to help its labor friends in. It expects its friends not to ask special favors.

Ask the men that ran the labor paper in New York until it died; or Berger, who runs a paper for labor in Milwaukee. They will tell you they always had a little more trouble with the unions than the "capitalist" papers. Labor unions are consistent.

TELLS OF ROMANCE WITH ROGERS HEIRESS BEFORE BREAK CAME

THOMPSON STILL IN LOVE

Regards His Friendship With Girl Who Married Count as "a Beautiful Thing"

New York, Jan. 14 (U.S.)—James Madison Thompson, who refused a banking career for a place in motion pictures, today continued his attitude of friendliness for Millicent Rogers, despite her marriage to Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten.

When asked if he had heard that the Countess' parents found the marriage a source of many-sided discord, he replied:

"I have only this to say, and that is that Mr. Rogers is a representative type of true, red-blooded Americanism. I know that he was deeply devoted to his daughter. Furthermore, it would not be fitting for me to discuss, even if I were so inclined, any phase of the family in which I was not admitted as a son-in-law.

"For me there is only one thing paramount at present, and that is to continue my humble place in motion pictures, gradually learning the business from the ground up. And I have a lot to learn."

WERE DEVOTED.

Thompson, a singularly, hand some young fellow, is six feet three inches tall and is twenty-five years old. His latest motion picture appearance is in "The Great White Way," now at the Cosmopolitan Theatre. He added at his apartment today:

"I really cannot see why I am considered a figure in this recent development. It is well known that Miss Rogers and myself were engaged to wed.

"It is also well known to our intimate friends that we were devoted to one another and that the whole course of the [illegible] time of its breaking, ran smoothly.

"I still regard my friendship with Miss Rogers as a beautiful thing and hope that I will not be quoted in a way that would make me appear either ungentlemanly or foolish."

Count and Countess Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten were back in their suite at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel today, following a week-end passed in the country.

They refused to receive callers. The former Millicent Rogers returned to the hotel on the arm of the count and was chatting vivaciously as they stepped quickly into an elevator and went to their suite.

ACCEPTS NOTORIETY.

"I really cannot help it, can I? You see, anyone who does the unconventional, as I have, must accept the notoriety that goes with it," she said.

Happy? The Countess radiated happiness.

Regretful? Not in the least. There was not the slightest suggestion of it.

Afraid? Millicent Rogers refuses to recognize any reason for fear, declines to concede that there is any reason to believe that society, in the broadest or the narrowest sense of that term, will frown on her because she won as she wished.

If it does—well, there is that to the set of the small jaw and in the brightness of the eye of the grand daughter of H. H. Rogers that suggests she is made of the same fighting stuff that elevated her father's father from obscurity to the first rank of America's industrial leaders.

There will be no litigation started against Count von Hoogstraeten at the instigation of Mrs. Grace Sands Monigomery Coffin.

Mrs. Coffin has left the Belmont and is staying at the apartment of her friend, Mme. Glanette Train, at No. 47 East Fifty-fifth street, where she is seeking rest.

HERE'S A LUCKY DOG; HE ADMITS IT, TOO!

RESCUED TERRIER AND HIS OWNER

This grateful little dog, "Buster," was rescued from drowning in the Charles River by a Cambridge policeman after several youths had risked their lives in a vain effort to save him. Inset is his owner, Mrs. Timothy Corcoran, wife of another Cambridge officer.

BOYS RISK OWN LIVES TO HELP RESCUE DOG

Drowning Animal Is Finally Saved From Charles River by Cambridge Policeman

A little bull terrier named Buster is happily playing about the yard of his owner's home, No. 21 Putnam avenue, Cambridge, today, just as frisky as ever.

Buster belongs to Miss Marcella Corcoran, the daughter of Timothy Corcoran of the Cambridge police department. He came near breaking up the Corcoran family by plunging through the thin ice on the Charles River. He was rescued just in time.

Buster was out taking a walk with Mr. Corcoran along the river, back when some boys threw a stick across the ice.

Buster, a game and playful dog, ran after the stick.

About 35 feet from shore, the ice gave way, and Buster fell into the water. He tried to climb back on the ice, but it gave way all around him.

He cried piteously but the youngsters who had thrown the stick were helpless to aid. Six of the boys formed a human chain, but the ice broke under them.

Two Harvard freshmen obtained a ladder and made a plucky but futile effort to rescue the dog.

Patrolman James T. Rice of Station 2, Cambridge, then noticed the crowd on the river band and hastily obtained a row boat and broke his way through the ice to Buster's side.

The crowd cheered as the patrolman pulled the drowning dog from the water.

"Buster is just like one of the family," said Miss Corcoran today "I'm so glad he was saved."

$100,000 HAUL MADE BY BOOZE BANDITS

Newark, N. J., Jan. 14.—Eight or ten daring bandits today broke into the warehouse of Pierce, Butler & Pierce Company, bound and gagged the negro watchman and escaped with two truckloads of bonded whiskey, valued at $100,000.

John Brooks, the negro watchman, was only able to sound an alarm by kicking over a telephone when he was seized and bound.

The whiskey was stored on the fifth floor of the building. Brown claims two of the bandits went to the upper floor and loaded the cases of liquor on a freight elevator. The cases were then carried from the building on two trucks stationed in the street. Brown says the other bandits were assigned to watch him.

Holyoke, Jan. 14.—Placing a shot gun to his head, Napoleon Cousineau, a contractor, committed suicide in Westfield today. He was the father of a large family. He had been despondent for some time.

He was removed to the City Hospital where his name is on the danger list. John F. Leonard, D street, South Boston, was charged with driving an automobile so as to endanger lives.

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Jan. 14 (I.N.S.)—Supreme Court Justice Edward C. Whitmier today dismissed the $50,000 alienation of affection suit brought against Mrs. Marie Featherstone Steery, widow of Leland Steery, prominent saratoga and Palm Beach hotel man, by Mrs. Ernest Ballou, wife of the former Steery chauffeur.

OFFERED $5,000 TO HUSH UP

Attorney Threatens Startling Disclosures if Stars Don't "Come Clean" at Trial

Los Angeles, Jan. 14.—Ever since Mabel Normand's chauffeur, Horace A Greer, shot and wounded Cortland S. Dines, Edna Purviance's sweetheart, certain persons interested in Hollywood have been trying to hush up the story, according to Greer's attorney, C. B. Conlin.

They have tried to induce Greer to say that Edna, Mabel and Dines were playing cards when he came in, Conlin declares.

They have sent him many lawyers willing to take his cash and plead him insane; they have offered

Mabel Normand

Courtland S. Dines

to help him in other ways and one person, Colin asserts, offered to give the chauffeur four or five thousand dollars to be a good fellow.

"They have even approached me," the lawyer said. "I have had visits from several lawyers. Mary Miles Minter's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, has kindly offered to assist Mr. Greer. I am not making any money out of this case, but I have been offered lots.

"People have even gone to Mary Dawney, Greer's sweetheart, and tried to get her to assist them in assisting Greer to see the light as they see it.

"I understand that a woman wired a Chicago attorney last week, asking him to come on and defend

Mary Miles Minter

my client; that she said she would meet him at the Biltmore Hotel. She signed the name of Mary Dawney, but Mary did not send that wire; and Mary has no money to spend on lawyers.

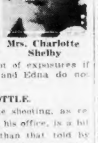
"My client is telling the truth. He has not told it all. There are little details that he has not yet remembered. He is a slow thinker, but he is not making up the story."

Mr. Conlin was asked if he knew who the people were who were trying to bribe him and Greer.

"I know who they are, of course," he said, "but I don't know whom they represent.

"There are going to be many sensations when this case goes to trial.

Horace A. Greer



Mrs. Charlotte Shelby

There will be a lot of exposures if Dines and Mabel and Edna do not come clean."

SWUNG THE BOTTLE.

The story of the shooting, as related by Conlin in his office, is a bit different than that told by Greer to the police at the time of his surrender, he said:

"He went to the Dines place and knocked four of five times before he was admitted.

"Mabel was lying on the couch. He went over to her and suggested she better be coming home. Mabel said: 'Oh, Bah, Blah,' or something like that. Greer went over and got her coat, then pulled her into a sitting position and reminded her she must go to the hospital the next day and advised her to come home with him.

Greer insisted that she come, and then Dines, a much bigger man than my client, swung at Greer with his right fist and with his left hand reached for a whiskey bottle. Greer stepped back and fired."

"How was Dines dressed at this time?" Conlin was asked.

"I'm not saying how anybody was dressed," he replied.

At the hospital it was said Miss Normand was much improved today and her physicians said she would recover.

Dines also showed marked improvement, it was said.

Former Fitchburg Society Leader's Wedding in South Reveals Broken Romance

Fitchburg, Jan. 14.—F. Howland Woodward, formerly prominent in church circles and a member of the exclusive Cay Clubs, and Mrs. Grace Chandler, divorced wife of Dr. P. L. Chandler, were married in Orlando, Fla., according to a dispatch received today.

Woodward, whose first wife and three children live at No. 14 Mount Vernon street, and Mrs. Chandler were married by Rev. Dr. Dean in the First Baptist Church of Orlando. Woodward owns a big grove at Longwood, Fla. He claims to have received a divorce from his wife at Orlando, Fla.

Woodward and Mrs. Chandler are both in their thirties and both are prominent in the Fitchburg Choral Society.

Mrs. H. M. Sheriffs, mother of Mrs. Chandler, when seen at the exclusive Hotel Johnsonia, said: "I have nothing to say. It is awful."

Mrs. F. S. Woodward, mother of Woodward, is also at Johnsonia.

Woodward's father, F. F. Woodward, was head of a large hay and grain company at Fitchburg.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM MAN SHE NEVER WED

Ida Stevens, of Allston, suing H. C. Stevens, for divorce on grounds of desertion, was asked to produce her marriage certificate. "We had none," she replied. "We introduced ourselves as Mr. and Mrs. Stevens"

The common law "marriage" took place in New Rochelle, N. Y., in 1895. The couple separated in 1920. They have two daughters. Mrs. Stevens has not seen her husband since he left. The case was continued until Stevens is located.

Mrs. Mary F. Duval, of Chelsea street, East Boston, was granted a divorce from Edward Duval, for desertion. They were married in 1916. In June, 1920, he said "I'm not going to give you any money this week," and left.

New York, Jan. 14.—Physicians attending the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, Brooklyn, who was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage more interesting than that told by Greer to the police at the time of his surrender, he said:

"He went to the Dines place and knocked four of five times before he was admitted.

"Mabel was lying on the couch. He went over to her and suggested she better be coming home. Mabel said: 'Oh, Bah, Blah,' or something like that. Greer went over and got her coat, then pulled her into a sitting position and reminded her she must go to the hospital the next day and advised her to come home with him.

Greer insisted that she come, and then Dines, a much bigger man than my client, swung at Greer with his right fist and with his left hand reached for a whiskey bottle. Greer stepped back and fired."

"How was Dines dressed at this time?" Conlin was asked.

"I'm not saying how anybody was dressed," he replied.

At the hospital it was said Miss Normand was much improved today and her physicians said she would recover.

Dines also showed marked improvement, it was said.

Covalt, of No. 313 Cambridge street, Allston.

Potter, penniless, took his life in the Allston apartment of his confidential secretary. He left this note, a tragic obituary of his own life:

'OLD NEW YORK' OPENING TO BE BRILLIANT

State and City Officials Will Attend Performance at Park Theatre Tonight

The Cosmopolitan production of Rida Johnson Young's play, "Little Old New York," with Marion Davies as the star, will begin its local engagement at the Park Theatre this evening.

The event will be more than the first showing in Boston of a beautifully photographed picture with a talented artist at the head of a long cast of players. State and city officials and persons of high standing in society and business will join in making the first presentation of the photoplay the outstanding feature of the season in local theatrical circles.

Among those who have announced their intention of attending the first showing of this marvelous photoplay here are:

Lieutenant-Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Mayor James M. Curley and family, General Clarence R. Edwards, Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, Frank G. Allen, president of the Senate; Frederick W. Cook, secretary of State; James Jackson, State treasurer; Senator Edwin T. Wright, William H. O'Brien, William C. Crawford, General Charles H. Cole, Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, James A. McKibben, Judge Arthur W. Dolan, General John H. Tynan, George E. Curran, Joseph C. Allen, Charles L. Burrill, John M. Casey, Chief John O. Taber of the fire department.

MISS DAVIES AS HEROINE.

Dr. Henry Bogan, Brigadier-General Alfred F. Foote, Payson Dana, Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, Henry C. Attwill, Charles D. Woods, Dr. George M. Kline, the Rev. Arthur T. Connolly, Henry L. Lapham, Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley, William T. A. Fitzgerald, registrar of deeds, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, former Governor John L. Bates, Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long, District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, W. C. Frost, former Mayor Andrew J. Peters, Arthur L. Race, Spencer Sawyer, Dr. Payson Smith, John Shepard, 3d, Walter White and Howard Coonley, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The heralding of this attraction echoing from high acclaim granted through its recently terminated long New York engagement makes its Boston advent a notable occasion. Also through this characterization succeeding Miss Davies' remarkable impersonation of Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was in Flower," which won her abundant praise during its engagement at the same theater last season, the liveliest of interest is sure to abound in her coming appearances.

Miss Davies will be seen as the courageous Irish heroine, Patricia O'Day, who leaves the old land with her father and brother Pat to come to America and claim a fortune left by her uncle to his nephew, Pat O'Day. During the voyage her brother dies and in order to substantiate her claims to the estate she assumes boy's attire and masquerades as her brother Pat. She is received into the household of her uncle's stepson, and in the polite society of old New York of 1820 she moves and has innumerable adventures.

CHARMING LOVE STORY.

The life and times of that period with its picturesque manners, costumes and localities are possessed with infectious charm that glamors the incidents of the play. The necessity for preserving her boyish personality visits innumerable difficulties upon the young heroine, all to the further delectation of the plot. There is a charming love story woven into the plot as sweet as old-time romance. In the course of her adventures there is met a number of outstanding figures of the time whose memory is cherished in the city's history.

Among these personalities are such as Robert Fulton, John Jacob Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Henry Brevoort, Washington Irving and Delmonico. The cast enlists such notable players as Harrison Ford, J. M. Kerrigan, Courtenay Foote, Mahlon Hamilton, Louis Wolheim, Andrew Dillon, Sam Hardy, Norval Keedwell, Ryan O'Brien, Charles Judels, Elsie Mirray, Mary Kennedy, Harry Watson, George Barraud and Spencer Charters.

But especially picturesque is the reproduction of many of the scenes exactly as they were in the period. These scenes were designed and built under the personal supervision of Josef Urban, the leader of his profession. A special musical score for the accompanying music was composed by Victor Herbert, the famous composer. This will be interpreted by a large orchestra. The presentations will be on the same grand scale as prevailed during its record-breaking metropolitan engagement. After the opening tonight the performances will be given twice daily, with all seats reserved.

MELLON'S TAX OPPONENTS ARE HEARD

Treasury Experts Will Also Appear to Explain Plan to Ways and Means Committee

Washington, Jan. 14.—The merits of the Mellon tax program came under discussion today before the House Ways and Means Committee at public hearings.

Scores of witnesses have asked to be heard either on the general subject of taxation or on specific sections of the measure submitted by the Treasury Secretary.

Determined to conclude hearings by the end of the week, however, the committee had limited each witness to fifteen minutes, ten minutes for uninterrupted presentation of his views and five minutes for questions by committee members.

Secretary Mellon has not informed the committee whether he desired to be heard, but a number of Treasury experts will be called to explain the probable results of the operation of the measure.

Among those will be Joseph S. McCoy, the Treasury Actuary, who has been instructed by Secretary Mellon to prepare estimates of the amount of revenue the government would receive under the substitute proposal prepared by Representative Garner of Texas and other Democratic members of the committee.

The Democrats have proposed that the maximum surtax be fixed at 44 per cent, of the total by which the income exceeds $92,000,000 in lieu of the Mellon recommendation of 25 per cent on all in excess of $100,000.

With a number of Republican members in the House opposing the 50 per cent surtax reduction contained in the Mellon bill, majority members of the committee are divided as to the wisdom of making a compromise.

Chairman Green and others who share the belief of Representative Longworth, Ohio, Republican leader, believe a compromise will be necessary to get for the bill the support of the majority of the House.

President Obregon has arrived at La Piedad to assume personal command of the Federal army on the western front. He will personally lead the troops.

1923 IS ENGLAND'S HEALTHIEST YEAR

London, Jan. 14.—Never was there a year in which the public health was so good, epidemics so few and death rates so low as in 1923. In the great towns of England the death rate for 1923 was 11.5 per thousand, as against 13 in 1922. In London the rate was 11.3 per thousand, against a previous lowest of 12.4 in 1921. Twelve years ago 130 babies in every 1,000 failed to live for a year, in 1921 the infant mortality was 73, but in 1923 it was 3 for England and Wales and just over 60 for London.

PORTLAND POLICE RAID VICE AND RUM

Portland, Me., Jan. 14.—Activity of the police in making liquor seizures and raids upon alleged disorderly houses is believed to be due to reports that the new chief of police, Elmer N. Move arrests have been made by the officers here during the past few days than in a number of weeks for violation of the liquor laws. Many women and men have been brought in by the officers on vice charges and have been held for higher courts.

AB RAMS DRIVEN TO DEATH BY CRITICS

Discoverer of Electrome Diagnosis Worried Over Attacks on His Theories

San Francisco, Jan. 14 (I.N.S.)—Associates of Dr. Albert Abrams, noted San Francisco physician and discoverer and exponent of the electronic method of diagnosis and treatment of disease, today declared that his death was due to worry over attacks which have been launched against his theory by the medical profession.

Dr. Abrams, who is reported to have left an estate of almost $2,000,000, died after a week's illness of broncho-pneumonia. His associates recalled today that a year ago addressing a class of physicians studying his methods, Dr. Abrams predicted his own death almost to the day.

Outside his electronic theories and his "radio-therapy," Dr. Abrams was noted for his discovery of means of detecting parentage by the electrical vibration of a drop of blood, a love barometer for the heart and diagnosis by wireless on which he was working at the time of his death.

PUBLICITY ENDS FORD'S PLAN FOR DANCE

Sudbury Ancients Are Het Up When Inn Function Is Called Off

South Sudbury, Jan. 14.—Faded old eyes won't brighten and drop a reminiscent tear down withered cheeks at the sweet long-ago strains of "Money Musk," and rheumatic old joints won't creak to the steps of "Turkey in the Straw" at Henry Ford's Wayside Inn the latter part of this week, in what was intended to be a quiet, neighborly, old-fashioned dance.

"The hull affair has been called off," cried one wrathful denizen of South Sudbury, "An' it's all on account of those pesky, pryin' Boston newspaper reporters who have to have somethin' to write about, an' picked on our dance."

Henry Ford has called off the dance because of the undue publicity given it.

The auto magnate hasn't called off the affair entirely, however, but merely for the present, and the ancient harmony of the famous old hostelry may yet resound to forgotten tunes, while the flappers and cake-eaters of yesteryear frolic in the candlelight through the minuet, Portland Fancy and quadrille to shouts of "Swing your partner!" "All hands around!" "Ladies bow and gents bow wow!"

It would be blasphemous to mention the fox trot or one step in such a gathering, for the modern dances in which one moves everything but the feet, are to be tabooed.

WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE FROM FUGITIVE MATE

Bertha H. Lawton of Saugus was granted a divorce in Middlesex Probate Court today after telling the court that neither she nor the insurance firm her husband worked for have been able to find Edward Lawton for four years.

Lawton was accused of being short in his accounts at the time he fled. Mrs. Lawton was given custody of a seven-year-old child.

VETERAN MARRIES ON 82D BIRTHDAY

Brockton, Jan. 14.—Oliver Cushman, a veteran of the Civil War and active for years in Democratic politics and in real estate business, celebrated his 82d birthday by marrying Miss Wealthy C. Dunbar, 64, of Marshfield. The couple will live at Marshfield Hills for the Winter.

Years ago Mr. Cushman was district manager of a sewing machine company and in his travels he often stopped at the Damon house in Marshfield.

BUTLER PUTS REST OF LAWLESS TO ROUT

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.—Smedley D. Butler's offensive against crime and vice of all sorts in Philadelphia has resulted in a complete rout of the enemy.

Raids, started a few hours after the general took over the office of Director of Public Safety under Mayor Kendrick last Monday, were said by superintendent of Police Mills today to have sent law-breakers of every description scurrying to cover.

Official reports showed that 434 raids were made in the six-day period just ended and that every variety of law-breaking establishment was included in the places visited. Official figures on the number of arrests were not available, but unofficial estimates placed them at nearly 1,000.

REM sends Lucille and John back to school—tight coughs gone

When children had to be out of school sick, falling behind in their work and keeping the family awake at night with their coughing, the story of what REM had done for others surely sounded like good news.

An advertisement brought REM to the notice of Mrs. John J. Bauer, 1652 W. Fifty-first St., Chicago. Now read her grateful words:

"My children, Lucille and John, both had bad colds last winter. They had real tight coughs. Lucille's was so bad I had to keep her home from school for a whole week. I tried some different medicines, but they didn't do any good. Several nights the children were awake coughing most of the night.

"Then I happened to see an advertisement about REM, so I got a bottle of it for the children. Right away they got better. In a few days they were feeling fine, and soon they were both back at school.

"REM is the best and quickest cough medicine I've ever used."

So many who have tried REM speak of the quick relief it brings.

This quick action is not just a matter of luck, for REM contains a special ingredient (too expensive for old-style, slower-acting cough syrups) that causes it to cling to your throat as it is swallowed. And there it spreads a soothing, healing film over the sore, inflamed membranes.

REM doesn't taste a bit bad. Nor does it contain Opiates.

Ask your druggist for REM—in the blue package with the round orange label. If REM doesn't help you, you can have your money back. Fair enough, isn't it?

AMERICAN IS PRAISED FOR BIG SCOOP ON RED SOX TRADES

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR FANS

Boston baseball fans were talking about the American today; talking about Saturday's big "scoop," which unfurled news of the greatest trade of the winter, the trade that helped the Red Sox more than any deal has in a half dozen years.

The American gave the "gang" the first news of the best thing that has happened in Boston baseball since Bill Carrigan quit the game.

The Sport Extra readers were informed that President Bobby Quinn had gathered in three real stars for the Fenway team. The Sport Extra readers had all the real facts a day before they were supposed to be published.

FANS APPRECIATE IT AND WANT REAL NEWS.

Boston fans appreciate this. That's why they read the American when they want the real news.

They had the "dope" on this great trade Saturday. They went home and talked it over at the dinner table, or the supper table, as most of them call it.

They hashed it all over at their clubs Saturday night. They knew long before they went home, that work really had been started to put a real ball club back in the Fenway next season.

They were not obliged to get up early Sunday morning to "grab" the sporting pages before the "Missus" used them to light the fire. They knew. Experience had taught them that the Sport Extra has the news the "day before" that the other papers spread all over the front pages the "day after."

FOR MONTHS AND MONTHS THEY KNEW DEAL WAS ON.

For months and months, the fans have been aware that some kind of a deal was on between the Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians. Those on the inside have been watching the American.

They know that Jack Conway hasn't an equal in the baseball world either as writer or picker; they know that no sporting editor covers things as completely and correctly as "Gill"; they know that Nick Flatley invariably has the correct angle on baseball situations.

WERE NOT SURPRISED WHEN AMERICAN SPRUNG IT.

They weren't surprised, then, when the American sprung that Red Sox story Saturday. They sort of expected it.

But that hasn't damped their enthusiasm.

"All you must do to get the inside track in Boston," declared one prominent sportsman, "is to read the American. That paper was the first to tell that Frazee would sell the club; that Mitchell was through as Brave manager; that Foil would succeed Frank Chance.

HAS BEEN FIRST IN ALL FIELD OF SPORTS

"It has been first in baseball, football, fights and everything else. Other papers take wild rumors and make stories out of them. The American verifies rumors, long ahead of anybody else, then gives us the facts.

That, it might be said, was the general attitude around Boston today on this latest startling American beat.

Fans in general had one idea—if you read the American Sport Extra, you can't go wrong.

WRANGLE OVER REFEREE FOR TITLE BOUT

Who will referee the world's championship match between Ed Strangler Lewis, the world's champion wrestler, and Joe Alvarez, the heavyweight champion of Panama, at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night.

Joe Alvarez

This question threatens to wreck the going through of the big match in Boston. When the match was first arranged, this question was considered of minor importance. Now, however, Billy Sandow, manager of Lewis wants Ed Smith, of Chicago, Bill Brown of New York a man from Kansas City, Mo., or Tom Law of Wichita, Kansas.

Joe Alvarez is satisfied that a Boston man can handle the bout. "When the match is pulled in Boston," said Joe, "why isn't a Boston man referee?" It surely isn't necessary to Lewis that he bring his own referee along. Paul Bowser, the matchmaker, is strong for a Boston man or at least a man from the state to handle the event. As a last resort, the sporting editors of some of the local papers may pick the man to be the third party in the ring.

NOTED FIGHTER DIES AFTER KNOCKOUT

New York, Jan. 14 (Universal).—Frankie Jerome, bantamweight pugilist, who was knocked out by Buddy Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., Friday night at Madison Square Garden, died at Bellevue Hospital.

Jerome, whose right name was Frank Doherty, suffered severe internal and external injuries during his fight with Taylor, and after the bout was carried from the ring to the dressing room, and later was rushed to the hospital.

Although no announcement was made as to the exact cause of Jerome's death, it is believed that he suffered a concussion of the brain during the last rounds of the Friday night bout.

An autopsy will be held today at which time it is expected that officials of the fight will be asked to explain why the match was not stopped when it appeared that Taylor was far the superior.

Jerome's death, coming as it does

HARVARD NINE COACHES WELL EQUIPPED

Twenty years ago Jack Slattery and Fred Mitchell trained together in the Harvard baseball cage preparatory to going South.

Jack Slattery

Slattery was getting into shape to go with the Chicago Americans as a catcher and Mitchell as a pitcher for Philadelphia.

Today they are back in the old cage working together again, Slattery as head coach of the Harvard baseball team and Mitchell as coach of the pitchers.

Having served as manager of the Chicago and Boston Nationals, after achieving notable success with the Harvard Varsity outfit in 1916, Mitchell is well equipped to bring out the best that is in the Crimson twirlers.

No outstanding candidate looms at present and the chief object in having the players report six weeks ahead of the infield and outfield squads is to enable the coaches to look over the candidates carefully in the hopes of smoothing out their deliveries and teaching them the many things that they failed to learn correctly as schoolboys.

TUFTS TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD AND TECH

The unbeaten Tufts basketball team is scheduled to play two games this week. On Thursday the Jumbos will entertain the Technology five, and on Saturday night the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College outfit will visit Medford to clash with Coach Sampie's Brown and Blue team.

Last week the Medford College team triumphed over Lowell Textile, Worcester Polytech and the Connecticut Aggies.

Al Davidson, Tech centre, is rated as one of the best pivot positon players in collegiate basketball, and Captain George Rogers of Tufts is his rival for the honor.

Johnny Mahoney and Al Evans, Tufts forwards, who were high scorers last week, intend to keep up the good work.

when boxing in this State is the target of severe criticism from all sides, is expected to prompt the State Legislature, now in session, to make radical changes in the law which permits 15-round bouts to a decision.

It was held certain in boxing circles that the plans which are now under way for a bout this Summer between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons will be dropped immediately, at least until changes in the statutes are made by the Legislature.

AD STONE IS MADE FAVORITE FOR BOUT WITH WOLF LARSEN

MALONE ON WITH TODD; WILSON BATTLES GREB

By JACK CONWAY.

You will witness plenty of fistic fireworks during the next few days.

Wolf Larsen, who knocks 'em for a row of roosts when he connects with either his left or right hand smash, will have the sensational Ad Stone of Philadelphia as an opponent in the feature bout of ten rounds at the Commercial A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building on Tuesday night.

Ad Stone

On Friday evening, Jock Malone, illustrious, St. Paul middleweight, will swap blows with Roland Todd of merry old England at the Faneuil Club's carnival at Mechanics Building.

Johnny Wilson will also be very much in the limelight on Friday evening. He is billed to make a bid to regain his middleweight championship in a fifteen-round skirmish with Harry Greb at Madison Square Garden, New York.

The fans are also giving their attention to the ten-round setto between Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, and the colorful Johnny Sheppard of Woburn, who mingle at the Armory A. A.'s show at Mechanics Building a week from tomorrow night. This is the most attractive bouting between little men arranged by a Boston club in several years.

STONE AND LARSEN SHOULD FURNISH PLENTY OF ACTION

When Larsen and Stone meet at the Commercial Club tomorrow night the fans will witness a struggle between two of the world's hardest hitting flight heavyweights. The Wolf has proved a riot in his Boston starts. He has bowled over some tough opposition.

Larsen is entitled to a great deal of credit for agreeing to take on Stone. The latter recently battered Billy Shade around a New York ring. The Philadelphian has stopped most of his opponents inside of the limit and is of the opinion he socks too hard for Larsen. Stone's reputation as a puncher has resulted in his being made a 10 to 8 favorite over Larsen.

Larsen and Stone will be supported by an attractive preliminary card.

MALONE NOT WORRIED OVER TODD'S REPUTATION.

Jock Malone, the world's champion conversationist as well as one of the game's leading middleweights, isn't worried a bit over the fact that Roland Todd, whom he meets on Friday night, has defeated Augie Ratner and most of the English middleweights. Jock points with pride to the fact he has engaged in nine bouts in Boston rings and has not lost a decision.

Todd is a fast, clever boxer and stiff puncher and will force the Lewis-Walsh entry to extend himself to the limit if he is to win. Todd is a better fighter than Ted Moore, English middleweight, who recently showed here with Tommy Loughran, and will make a stout-hearted bid for victory.

If Todd wins, he will demand a shot at the victor of the Greb-Wilson contest.

Malone also has championship yearnings and believes that the best way to keep himself in the pugilistic limelight is by putting the kids under the English invader.

SHEPPARD MAY BOX LYNCH IF HE DEFEATS GENARO

Matchmaker George Feeman of the Armory A. A. has offered Joe Lynch, world's bantamweight champion, $10,000 to meet Johnny Sheppard of Woburn in a little bout in Boston the latter part of February in the event that Paddy Mineban's sturdy protege wins over Frankie Genaro at the Triple A's show at Mechanics Building on Tuesday evening, January 27. Freeman's wire follows:

"Will guarantee Lynch $10,000 to meet Sheppard here late in February if later wins over Genero. Would make great attraction. Sheppard has beaten Bud Taylor, Abe Friedman and Phil O'Dowd, and he is picked by Jake Kilrain and Jimmy Gardner to win over Genaro."

Freeman is following the system of Tex Rickard who tries to pick the winners of his own bouts and make a second match before the first has been staged.

Sheppard is the most promising boxer developed in New England in years. This two-or-three-year-old youth has proved a ring sensation. His spectacular victories over Bud Taylor, Paddy Owens, Abe Friedman and Phil O'Dowd lead many experts to figure he will keep right on winning.

When a youngster like Sheppard is winning, it is almost impossible to stop his drive. He has youth, confidence, aggressiveness, boxing class and a terrific punch. This makes a mighty difficult combination to overcome.

He also has the advice and coaching of Manager Paddy Mineban, the veteran Jimmy Gardner and Jake Kilrain, one of the old guard of heavyweights. What this trio does not know about "inside" boxing isn't of any account.

Genaro will find Sheppard a much tougher opponent than Villa whom he has defeated three times.

HUNTINGTON TO MEET MEDFORD ON TRACK

By FRED C. LANE.

Huntington's track team, after four years of success, seems doomed for a humble place in the ranking of the Greater Boston track teams this Winter. On Thursday they will meet Medford High over whom they triumphed consistantly for three years.

The tables appear to be turned this year and all indications point to a victory for Medford.

Huntington has lost all except two of its well known runners. Captain Bill Spinney, Curtis Parker, Richard MacFarland, Gail Robinson, William Luce, Roger Mugoun and Edward Hall received their diplomas last Summer and now represent various colleges or prep schools.

THIS LEAVES BIG GAP IN THE TEAM RANKS

This leaves a big gap in the ranks. Captain John Carney, 600-yarder, and Eric Hanson, hurdler, are the only veterans left. A number of new faces will be seen when the runners lineup for their dual meet.

Gordon Clarke of Hyde Park, a leader for years over the 600-yard distance, will step into the breach made when Dick MacFarland was graduated. Bram Stanefield and Howard Burns, both of Exeter, will fill in for Captain Spinney and Bill Luce, both consistent winners of the dash events.

Coach Whiting reports the team weak in the high jump and shot put.

Medford will invade the Huntington gym with a team equally as strong as that which won the State championship last season.

Captain Joe Kelley, 600-yarder, was the only one lost of that fleet-footed team that waded through the Greater Boston teams last season.

BASKETBALL AND TRACK AT LYNN ENGLISH

Basketball and track will be the big issues at Lynn English High this Winter. Coach Sexton devotes his time between the two sports.

Coach Jiggs Donahue is coach of the hockey team at St. John's Prep. Lack of ice has handicapped the progress of the team. Captain George Stadel, Bernandin and Morris are three veterans.

The Huntington track schedule is as follows: January 25, Newton; February 2, Worcester Academy; February 8, Brookline; February 16, Harvard interscholastic; February 24, Harvard freshmen; March 1, B. A. A. schoolboy meet; March 8, Andover at Andover.

Commerce High has a junior in Gumpwright, who bids fair to shine on the indoor tracks.

NEW YORK DEFEATS NEWARK, THREE-TWO

Newark, N. J., Jan. 14.—Before one of the biggest crowds of the season, New York scored a 3 to 2 victory over Newark in the American Soccer League series.

Best, a new centre forward, was tried out by Newark and he gave a good display, and scored both his team's goals. McNivern, McGhee and A. Stark scored for the winners.

BROOKLYN TEAM BEATS PHILADELPHIA

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 14.—In the American Soccer League series the Brooklyn Wanderers defeated Philadelphia, 6 to 3.

With grounds in splendid shape and conditions excellent, the fans witnessed a fast display, in which the home team excelled and showed better shooting qualities than the visitors.

LANDERS WILL MEET CLARK TONIGHT

The Casino A. C. of Lynn offers one of the best fighting bills of the year for tonight and the fans who like plenty of action should get their fill before the final bell rings.

Buddy Clark of Salem, one of the most satisfactory performers around this section, will face Micky Landers in the final ten rounder. If Clark can defeat Landers, he will have earned the right to mingle with the top liners. The Salem boy has all the earmarks of a great fighter and his friends believe he has the makings of a champion.

Mickey Landers

He is game, aggressive and a terrific hitter with either hand and can knock out any boy that he can hit.

Clark has picked nothing soft in Landers, who has defeated Willie Corbett, Irish kid Williams, Terry McManus, Spike Hennessey, Harry Foley and Tony Jubalon.

Young Ross of Lynn, the lad who knocked out Al Corbett in five rounds, will meet Frankie Zarelli of Boston in the semi-final of eight rounds and these two little fellows should put up a great contest.

Young Murray of Lynn and Paul Sharkey of Beverly will meet in a six-rounder and Jack Reed of Everett and Dan Mahoney of Somerville.

FAST HURDLERS ENTER K. C. GAMES

Two famous hurdlers, Carl Christiansson, the great Irish champion, and Herb Meyer, former Hingers star, have been added to the field in the forty-five-yard high timber contest at the meet of the Knights of Columbus, January 29 in Mechanics Hall.

Loren Murchison

Bart Sullivan, manager of the games, says that Loren Murchison will compete in the relay while wearing the Newark A. C. colors in the games. Both Christiansson and Meyers also are members of the Newark A. C.

Charley Carroll, a former Holy Cross sprinting star, who now represents the New York A. C., will compete in the forty-yard invitation sprint. The Newark A. C. will have also Yardley Chilleck, Henry Bostlecher, Herb Meyer, Willie Kelley, Donald Barry and Anthony Moolenes to call on for relay duty against the Boston Athletic Association team.

OVER 90% OF ONE MILLION STILL IN SERVICE

Since delivering their first car, early in December, 1914, Dodge Brothers have manufactured and sold one million motor vehicles.

Over 90% of all these cars are still in active service.

This striking fact stands alone—a unique and overwhelming tribute to the principles and methods responsible for a product of such enduring worth.

"DOLEFUL CHORUS" SHOWS 'DRY' SUCCESS

Washington, Jan. 14.—The "Doleful Chorus" of Broadway's big hotels and restaurants will answer the question of prohibition's success or failure, Bishop Thomas Nicholson, New York, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, declared today in addressing its annual convention. Citing the prosperity of banks, life insurance companies and the decrease in employment as answers to the question "Is prohibition a failure?" Bishop Nicholson declared that "to climax it all the national wealth has for about doubled in ten years, and the major part of the increase has been during the past five years."

Ruth Renick Tells of Supposed Wedding Ceremony With 'Fake' Army Officer

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 14.—Miss Ruth Renick, beautiful screen actress, former leading woman for Douglas Fairbanks, and now appearing in person at a theatre here, saw her romance with "Major" Wellington N. Belford go a glimmering.

Belford was arrested for impersonating a United States army officer. He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Albert Hardin, gave bail of $500 and disappeared.

When police and relatives of Miss Renick confronted Belford in her apartment and demanded to know whether they had been married, he returned an evasive answer.

He registered at the Hotel Oakland several days ago with the actress as "Major" Wellington N. Belford and wife. Miss Renick said she and the "Major" were principals in what she believed to be a marriage ceremony in her apartment December 2.

She did not remember the name of the clergyman, she said.

ASK LOWER RATE ON ANTHRACITE SUBSTITUTES

New Englanders Ask Interstate Commerce Commission to Prevent Annual Famine

Washington, Jan. 14.—New England representatives urged the Interstate Commerce Commission today to require railroads to make lower joint rates in coal from West Virginia to New England cities, in order to give New England consumers a substitute for anthracite.

Edward A. Goss, appearing for Governor Templeton, of Connecticut, said that West Virginia coals of the low volatile type were adequate substitutes for anthracite, and with a reasonable rail rate would be taken in quantities throughout New England.

Asked if Pennsylvania low volatile coal now available to New England would not serve the same purpose, Mr. Goss declared that New England purchasers had been unable to get this commodity properly prepared for domestic consumption.

A somewhat similar stand was taken by P. J. Dowd of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts. Employers of some 450,000 men have become convinced, Mr. Dowd said, that a free supply for their workers must be assured by provision of some substitute for anthracite, which in recent years, he asserted, had frequently been exorbitantly high and scarce.

LABOR SHARES IN HIS REJECTED FORTUNE

MRS. CHARLES GARLAND

Eccentric leader of "Utopian" colony at North Carver. Trustees of the American Fund for Public Service created by the approximately $1,000,000 inheritance which he rejected as "unearned," report that they gave $79,000 and loaned $137,000 during the first year. Garland and his wife, after practically living apart for four years, are now reunited in his colony.

FATHER OFFERS TO GIVE AWAY 2 SONS

Bassett, Rebuffed by Wife, Is in New York

SO IS NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

But She Declares She Has No Knowledge of Presence of Her Ex-Literary Manager

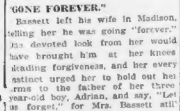
New York, Jan. 14.—Ellsworth Bassett, former business manager of Nina Wilcox Putnam, author, rebuffed by his wife at Madison, Ct., is in New York, somewhere. So is Nina Putnam Wilcox.

"Where is Mr. Bassett? I haven't the slightest idea," said Miss Putnam at her apartment in the Hotel Sutherland today. "There is nothing more to give out. All I have to say was said in my first statement."

"I am feeling much better," she said. "There is nothing more to be said. Won't you take my word for it?"

'GONE FOREVER."

Bassett left his wife in Madison, telling her he was going "forever." His devoted look from her would have brought him at her knees pleading forgiveness, and her every instinct urged her to hold out her arms to the father of her three year-old boy, Adrian, and say, "Let us forget," for Mrs. Bassett still loves her husband.



Nina Wilcox Putnam — Ellsworth Bassett

But—her lips were sealed, under orders of her attorney, who had told her that one look or word might upset a reconciliation. How much she wanted a reconciliation no one but Mrs. Bassett will ever know for the average woman's love for her husband is fanned into still stronger flame by competition.

Something died in her, she told her friends, as she watched Bassett leave forever. He had said he was going to New York.

WOMAN'S PRIDE.

There was something besides her lawyer's instructions that prevented Mrs. Bassett from calling her husband back when he left Saturday. It was her woman's pride. It is this same pride that forces from her, even though her heart is breaking the statement that if Ellsworth doesn't want to come back of his own accord he need never come back. She feels that he is the one at fault, and it is up to him to make the advances.

Meanwhile Ellsworth is somewhere in New York, where the procession of clam-digging is not at its best right now. Even house-putting is not in season, and it is doubtful whether anyone besides Mrs. Putnam would want the former clam-digger for a literary agent. Which brings up the question:

"What is the lure that has drawn Ellsworth Bassett to New York?"

STUDENTS OF 'NATURE' ARE RAIDED

East Boston Police Find Mohawk Trail Club Communing with the "Bones"

East Boston police became interested several weeks ago in a sudden wave of reform that swept over young men of the district.

A club known as the Mohawk Trail Club and dedicated to the beauties of the open spaces, was formed and club rooms opened at No. 376 Sumner street, East Boston.

Through the portals of this sanctum each night have passed a score or more of young men whose interest in nature and "See America First" literature was beyond the comprehension of mere police officers.

Last night a squad of police dropped around to get an earful of "country fireside" conversation.

Someone inside was quoting Long fellow: "Tell me not in mournful numbers." "Get away, you snake eyes."

There seemed to be a general discussion going on inside with everybody out of order. The officers cocked their ears.

"Come on, you seven! Seven right. Shoot the ten. Shoot twenty."

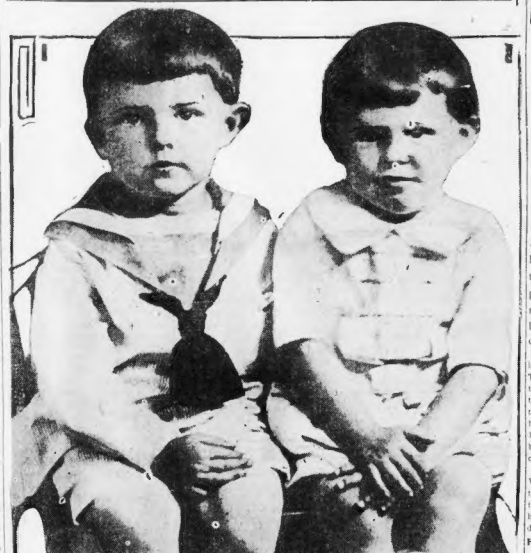
The police crashed through the door. Some thirty students of country life turned from a big table on which were a very cosmopolitan appearing pair of dice and a pile of money.

Eight or ten of the members suddenly decided to study nature first hand and dove through windows. Seventeen were rounded up by the police charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

"What's the idea?" asked one member of the sergeant in charge. "We're having a literary session, we are. What do you think you're doing?"

"We're just showing you the end of the Mohawk Trail," said the sergeant.

BOYS OFFERED FOR ADOPTION



ASKS GOOD HOME FOR KIDDIES

Rockland Man Finds It Impossible to Keep Children Bereft of Mother

"Wanted—a home for two American boys." In many a home in thousands of cities and towns in the United States the prattle of children would be the most welcome sound that could be heard—but there there are no children.

In a little cottage down at Rockland are two fine chubby youngsters. They have no mother. She died when their younger brother was born three years ago. And now the distracted father has offered his two boys for adoption by any respectable persons who will promise to bring them up in the way real American boys should be raised.

Charles Argrew is a shoe-worker. Work has not been over plentiful the past year, but despite everything he has tried to keep his little home together and bring up the children.

FINDS TASK TOO MUCH.

Now he realizes, he says, that he has set himself an impossible task. He has reached the end of it all and cannot see his way through.

Charles, Jr., is six years old and his brother George is a year younger. They are real kids, well mannered, truthful and loving. They have been taught to fear God and honor their father and the memory of the mother that is dead.

Little Joseph, born when his mother died three years ago, is being cared for by Mr. Argrew's sister-in-law. She has four children of her own. Her slender resources make it impossible for her to take Charles Jr., and George.

There is only one alternative left —the shoe worker. He must give his children into the hands of strangers. So he has made an appeal to the American to find homes for them.

WILLING TO PART THEM.

"I would like to have both adopted by one family if that is possible," he said, "but if not, I would have them taken into two families where I could be sure they would be properly brought up. They are fine children, anyone would be proud of them and I would love to keep them with me, but I cannot.

"It is for their sake that I am willing to part with them and I am offering them for adoption. They have been brought up in the Catholic Church."

Argrew lives at No. 35 Summit street, Rockland, and until some childless family takes the youngsters away, they will continue to live with their father.

"I want them to have a chance, the same chance that every child should have and if they get that chance I am sure they will prove themselves worthy," Argrew said.

MOTHER WINS RIGHT TO SEE HER CHILD

Salem Judge Rules Mrs. Kelley Can Have Custody of Son Every Week-End

Despite testimony to the effect that she was unfit as a mother to bring up her five-year-old child, Judge White, in Salem Probate Court today, told Mrs. William H. Kelley, Jr., of Lynn that she could have her child with her every second week-end.

The charges against Mrs. Kelley were made by her husband's father, William H. Kelley, Sr., and were substantiated, in part, by Attorney Fred Ryan of Lynn, counsel for Kelley, senior.

The father-in-law said he had seen Mrs. Kelley on three different occasions auto riding with men other than her husband. He used to custody of his grandson. Judge White thought it cruel for the grandfather to want absolute custody of the child and made the decision announced above.

Mrs. Kelley won a divorce from her husband last Summer, charging desertion. The marriage of the couple had always been opposed by the elder Kelley.

Mrs. Thomas Mrs. Kelley's mother, fainted when called upon to testify.

GARLAND FUND GIVES AWAY $79,000

$137,000 Loaned During its First Year; $856,178 Is Left

The American Fund for Public Service, created by Charles Garland, when the eccentric Harvard graduate decided to renounce his million dollar inheritance, gave away $79,00 outright during the first year and loaned $137,000.

A report of the trustees shows that the principal of the fund of $901,555 received from Garland has been reduced by gifts and expenses to $856,178.

Of the $79,000 given away during the year, one-third went to labor and radical publications, one-third to research and workers' education and the remaining third was distributed among legal defense, protection of minorities, educational propaganda for industrial democracy and industrial legislation and for strike relief.

The enterprises aided by gifts include the United Mine Workers Brookwood Labor College, Rand School of Social Science, National Women's Trade Union League, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Federated Press, New York Call, League for Industrial Democracy, National Consumers' League, Joint Amnesty Committee, Teachers' Union, and the Bureau of Industrial Research.

The larger loans were made to the Minnesota Daily Star, Oklahoma Leader, Seattle Union Record, New York Call, Brookwood Labor College, Labor Defense Council of Chicago and the Labor Bureau Inc., of New York.

Garland and his wife and their children reunited last month after being practically separated since he established his "Utopian" colony at North Carver in 1919 with several women disciples of his radical views.

CARDINAL SAILS ON HOLY LAND TRIP

New York, Jan. 14.—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston leaves on his pilgrimage to the Holy Land on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, which sails for the Mediterranean cruise today.

Cardinal O'Connell

The Cardinal is accompanied by Monsignor Richard J. Haberlin, chancellor of the Boston archdiocese, and Monsignor Michael J. Splaine of St. Joseph's Church, Roxbury, Mass.

The Cardinal on his return from the Holy Land will visit Rome to give an account of his stewardship of fifteen years in the Boston archdiocese to Pope Pius XI.

CAUGHT BREAKING IN HINGHAM GAS STATION

Caught in the act of breaking into a Hingham Center gasoline station, Arthur Wood, twenty-four years old, of Nantasket, was arrested. Neighbors, observing Wood acting suspiciously, summoned Arthur J. Luscott, owner of the station. He surprised Wood breaking the lock on the door.

DRUG VICTIM RUNS AMUCK IN HOSPITAL

Patients at the East Boston Relief Hospital were given a fright today when Michael De Sorito, known in East Boston as "Mig Eve," became drug-crazed and started to attack attendants. "Mig Eve" then ran out through the streets, coatless, and was chased for a half-mile before being caught by Patrolman John Foley. He was taken back to the relief hospital and then ordered to Boston City Hospital.

DEMOCRATS MEET TO PICK CONVENTION CIT

Washington, Jan. 14.—The contest over choice of a city for the 1924 Democratic national convention warmed up today as Democratic leaders gathered for the national committee meeting tomorrow. San Francisco will present a cash offer of $200,000, plus free use of the civic auditorium. Chicago was said to be prepared to offer $125,00 and New York's delegation was reported ready to put up $100,000 cash plus all expenses of the convention and national committee. St. Louis backers said they were prepared to go the limit.

SHENANDOAH WILL MAKE TRIP TONIGHT

Lakehurst, N. J. Jan. 14.—A short night is planned for tonight by the dirigible Shenandoah, which today had successfully completed thirty-six hours of her seven-day mooring mast test, Captain McCrary in command of the test, announced today.

During the night the wind shifted to the north and picked up a ten-to-twelve-hour speed, which had no effect on the big airship other than to swing her gently about.

WINDOW THIEVES GET COATS AND CASH

Nine plush coats valued at $90, and $50 in cash were stolen from the store of Morris Dfeleaum, No. 631 East Broadway, South Boston, when thieves broke a plate glass window and entered the store. The theft was committed by three young men around eighteen to twenty years of age, police say.

SOVIET OPPONENTS SUFFER SETBACK

Moscow, Jan. 14.—The opposition faction in the Communist party suffered a further defeat when its resolution charging the Moscow party committee with failing to exercise proper leadership and censuring its work for last year was defeated 208 to 66, at the conference of the Moscow governmental district. A majority of the members of the new Moscow committee are factory workmen.

FRANC TOUCHES NEW LOW; LIRE PASSES IT

Foreign Exchanges Take a Sharp Dip Downward in N. Y. Money Market

New York, Jan. 14.—Heavy selling of the foreign exchanges in European markets brought about sharp recessions in the British, French and Dutch rates at the opening of today's foreign exchange market here.

Demand sterling dropped 3¾ cents to $4.23; French francs broke 42½ points to 4.43½ cents and Dutch guilders dropped 45 points to 36.35 cents.

Italian lire advanced 10 points to 4.49½ cents, selling for the first time higher than French francs which created a new low record for all time.

London, Jan. 14.—Pronounced depression prevailed in the exchange market today. The French franc jumped to a new low record of 86.95 to the pound sterling, and the Belgian franc to 104.05 to the foreign settlement situation and speculative operations.

The sterling rate also took a downward turn, transfers being quoted at $4.24 to the pound.

Marriage Ban for Ministers Urged By Girl Pastor

Women ministers should not marry, according to Miss M. Elizabeth Bee of No. 41 Wiltstreet, Lynn, who is the first woman in that city to be granted a preacher's license. For her own part the youthful Boston University theology student has resolved to remain single.

Her reason for thinking that the 17,000 women ministers now ordained in this country should renounce the marital state is that the ministry is a consecrated work that allows of no other interest. She also thinks that men ministers should remain unmarried.

KLAN THREAT IN FOREIGN VOICE PUZZLE ISAAC

South End Man Is Warned to Quit Town in Strangely Familiar Accents

Isaac Trinkman is worried.

He is worried first because he has received two typical Ku Klux Klan threats to leave his home at No. 24 Auburn street, South End, and get out of town.

He is doubly worried because the warnings came over the telephone in decidedly foreign accents and Isaac didn't suppose there were any men with that kind of accent in the Klan.

He explained his troubles at the Dover street Police Station today. He said the first call came Saturday night and gave him forty-eight hours to get out of town or be killed. Sunday night the same voice called again and demanded action. "I'll meet you some time and do a sweet job on you," said the voice, "unless you leave town at once."

"It was a voice like that of my own cook," said Isaac. "I can't understand it. He sounded like the speaker meant business, too."

SEEK AUTOIST FOR ATTACK ON CHILD

New Bedford, Jan. 14.—Police today are seeking a young, stockily built man who picked up seven-year-old Margaret Mutrart in his automobile, drove her to the outskirts of the city and there attempted to attack her.

HOME WANTED FOR MOTHERLESS ROCKLAND KIDDIES

Charles Argrew, Jr., six years old, at left, and George Argrew, five years old, sons of Rockland shoeworker who offers them for adoption, because he says he finds it impossible to bring them up in his circumstances, as he would like to see them raised. The boys were bereft of their mother when a third child was born three years ago. The father would prefer they be adopted by one home but would be willing to give one to each of two.

BABIES' SHOES NEED CAREFUL FITTING

Doctors at Health Tests Find Mothers Provide Sensible Footwear

With hundreds of babies from Greater Boston waiting for examination, the second week of the baby health tests under the auspices of the Boston American and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health opens today.

The examinations are held daily from 1 to 5 p. m. at the Jordan Marsh Company annex.

Doctors examining children entered in the tests find sensible shoes, on the whole.

COMMON MISTAKE.

"The most common mistake," says Dr. Susan M. Coffin of the State Department of Public Health, "is that of getting the shoes too small. The baby's feet grow so fast that the shoes are often outgrown before they are worn out.

"The shoes should be fitted carefully, one-half inch longer than the foot and one-quarter inch wider. The inner line of the shoe should be straight, and the heel low and broad. Babies' shoes should be made of soft leather in order to be pliable."

Dr. Coffin found less favorable conditions in the dress of the average child.

LIGHT CLOTHING.

"Mothers are apt to bundle their babies up too much in the Winter time. The days of sewing the child into red flannels for the Winter months are past. Clothing should be warm, but light weight and loose, evenly distributed from head to foot. Heavy coats and sweaters should be worn out-of-doors only. Garters should hang from the underwaist, as round garters stop the circulation.

"Fresh underclothing should be put on the child at least once a week; and clothing worn in the daytime should not be worn at night."

In closing her interview, Dr. Coffin added: "Simple garments are best, but the child will feel better and happier if they are also attractive."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, Creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Hub Smart Set to Witness Premier of "Old New York," Says Betty Adlen

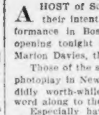
By BETTY ALDEN

A HOST of Social Register folk have signified their intention of attending the premier performance in Boston of "Little Old New York," opening tonight at the Park Theatre with Miss Marion Davies, the lovely and versatile star.

Those of the smart set here who have seen this photoplay in New York have acclaimed it a splendidly worth-while picture, and have passed the word along to their friends.

Especially have they praised the remarkable work of Miss Davies, who is not only charming to look upon, but a clever actress as well. So that everyone who has been invited to tonight's opening is expecting a most enjoyable evening.

ANOTHER interesting event on the cards for tonight is the dinner dance which Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McRae Winslow are giving at the Somerset for their three daughters, the Misses Natalie, Theodora and Emilie Winslow.



Natalie Winslow
(By International)

The affair will mark the formal presentation of Miss Emilie, a very dainty-looking bud with titian hair. Miss Theodora Winslow made her bow last Winter at the Country Club.

The Winslows, whose town house is on Bay State road, are among the few Bostonians who Summer at Newport. All the girls are enthusiastic tennis players, and spend much of their time on the Casino courts during the stay at Little Rhody's famous resort.

SPEAKING of Newport—young Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt (Emily Davies), whose large country estate is just outside the Queen City, made their first appearance in Boston society at the dinner which Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth gave for them at the Copley-Plaza.

Naturally a most aristocratic coterie was on hand to meet the honor guests, who have just taken up their new Boston abode in Louisburg square. The dinner preceded the junior supper dance, many of the younger guests staying on for that keenly enjoyed event.

Mrs. Hollingsworth, the hostess, wore a closely fitting gown of black velvet, with touches of silver brocade. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore gold lace which went very well with her blonde coloring.

Prominent among the guests was Miss "Elsie" Sears, as noted for her flashing smile as she is for her clever horsemanship. As usual Miss Sears was in black.

MRS. WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT

Mrs. Vanderbilt and her husband of No. 8 Louisburg square were guests of honor at the dinner given by Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth.

THESE are busy days for popular Miss Rosamond Adlie, better known to her friends as "Ros."

For the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Adlie has not only been selected as leading lady for the coming Vincent Club show, but is also taking part in "Lo Busier," which the Cercle Francais is presenting on Wednesday afternoon at the Copley Theatre.

Andrea Adlie

Miss Adlie's sister, Miss Andrea Adlie, was stricken a little while ago with appendicitis, from which she is rapidly recovering. Both girls are skilled equestriennes and have ridden many a thoroughbred from the ring bearing the coveted blue ribbon.

Society Notes

MRS. WILLIAM deFord Beal (Beatrice Starr) of Chestnut Hill is spending a few weeks at the New York home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Starr, No. 123 East 70th street.

The Useless Club, which includes a number of Boston backers, is giving a dance on the 26th of the month in the grill room of the Ritz-Carlton. The affair is a farewell to George Whitney, president of the club, who sails to spend the remainder of the Winter in Egypt.

Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., of West Hill Place is sojourning for a while at Center Harbor, N. H.

AT ALL THE DANCES we see airy fairy head-bands of silvery gauze flowers. 65 cents. Very dainty and bewitching. Or for 95 cents, pearls and steel beads are a little more pretentious. Unusual design. Wear one to the theatre.

Answer to Sara H: Be careful about jewelry. Don't wear gold bracelets if the pin at your neck is silver. Try to match up in color, as well as quality. With blue beads, wear blue earrings. Or a ring with a blue stone in it.

BAY STATE TO GET GERMAN TROPHIES

Washington, Jan. 14.—German cannon, helmets, rifles and other such trophies of the war which fell into the hands of the American troops and have since reposed with the War Department waiting Congressional action to provide for their disposition, are soon to be distributed to the various States.

The share of Massachusetts will include twenty-eight cannon of varying size, 2000 German Mauser rifles, the same number of bayonets, 545 helmets, sixteen armored cars, and a long list of lesser articles suitable for historical museums and memorial displays.

MISS GRIFFITH IS CAST FOR TITLE ROLE

Conway Tearle Also to Appear in "The Lillies of the Field"

"THEY TOIL not—neither do they spin," or something like that, is the quotation affiliated with "The lilies of the field." But Miss Corinne Griffith finds a fallacy in the phrase. Although this beautiful screen star can be voted one of the fairest of lilies, she certainly is scheduled for her share of toiling these days, she has been cast by First National for the title role in "The Lilies of the Field," from the stage play of the same name by William Hurlbut. Conway Tearle, who supports Corinne in "Black Oxen," will continue his position in this production.

"THE BREAKING POINT," Paramount's production of Mary Roberts Rinehart's popular story, now in process of filming, embodies Patsy Ruth Miller in its cast. Not a bad break for such a young lady.

SOMEWHERE IN the Atlantic, cruising about in a very mean state of mind, is a monster swordfish belonging to the Louis B. Mayer studios. It got away from a fiery old captain of a New England fishing schooner while Reginald Barker's camera was filming the battle for "Cape Cod Folks." However, the skipper got $100 for his trouble. No reward was offered for the return of the swordfish.

ENID BENNETT, the doll-like Maid Marian of "Robin Hood," and the Winsome Priscilla of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," has been selected by Frank Lloyd Productions to play the role of Rosamond Gadolphin in Sabatini's "The Sea Hawk." The title characterization will be done by Milton Sills, and a very bitter swashbuckling, but in the end, relenting hero may be expected. Of course, it would be hard to hold out against Enid for long.

SENATORS WANT BOK PLAN MAIL HELD UP

Fraud Order to Be Asked of Postoffice Department on Peace Letters

Washington, Jan. 14 (Universal).—An investigation of the $100,000 Bok "Peace Award" has been definitely pledged by a group of the leading Republicans in the Senate.

These Senators have arrived at the conclusion that all the circumstances of the organization of the Bok plan, its method of selecting the prize-winning essay and its award of the prize should be investigated under the resolution by Senator Reed of Missouri calling for an inquiry into all forms of propaganda which are flooding Congress.

Application to the Postoffice Department for issuance of a fraud order against distributors of the Bok propaganda probably will be the first step taken on behalf of the Senate to bar the "referendum" literature from the mails, thereby checking the propaganda at its source.

The fraud order will be asked for upon the ground that the conditions of the contest were not adhered to and the award of the prize was fraudulently made.

DAWES TAKES UP GERMAN DEBT PROBLEM

"Hell 'n Maria" Financier Flays Fake Economists and Asks Bold Action

Paris, Jan. 14 (I.N.S.).—The Inter-Allied Committee of Experts summoned by the Allied Reparations Commission to examine Germany's capacity for reparations payments, held its first meeting today under the presidency of Charles Gates Dawes of Chicago, who demanded "a commonsense agreement."

"We are practical men, free from all political pressure," declared Dawes. "I hope this inquiry will be conducted along the lines indicated by commonsense. The success of this committee depends on whether, in the public mind and the conscience of the allies, there is absolute conception of the great disaster which faces each allied nation unless commonsense is crowned king.

"For the moment we are less concerned with Germany's present capacity for payment than this committee's prudent capacity for courage to act.

"I have read with shame and humiliation the outpourings of American nationalistic demagogues who undertake to lecture Europe in order to lift themselves to some petty office or to maintain political popularity.

"We have found an impenetrable, colossal fog, bad in economic opinion, based upon premises of fact which has changed, making the bulk of the premises worthless."

The committee will examine means of balancing the German budget. It is likely that sessions of the committee will be held in Berlin and other German cities as well as Paris.

What a Pity

To hide the teeth's greater beauty with a dingy film

Countless people still leave film-coats on their teeth. Millions of others have found a way to combat them.

That is why so many teeth are cloudy, while other teeth now glisten.

Here is a ten-day test which will bring a revelation to you. Make it now, for the sake of whiter, cleaner, safer teeth.

Combat that film

Film is that viscous coat you feel. Much of it clings and stays after ordinary brushing. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. And those coats hide the luster of the teeth.

Film also holds food substances which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the tooth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So tooth troubles became almost universal.

Now dental science has found ways to fight that film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Many careful tests proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it. Now that method has brought a new dental era to millions of homes the world over.

Digests the starch

Starch deposits on teeth may also ferment and form acids. Pepsodent multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, put there to combat those deposits. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, puts it there to neutralize acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect. The result is a new conception of what clean teeth mean.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

The healthy look that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Gives is Natures Own

Ladies! This Beats Cosmetics

GOOD health cannot be camouflaged by powder and rouge. The eyes will tell. That sparkle and clearness that denote good health will not be there if you are constipated. Mrs. Clara Proctor of Pottersville, Mich., had been told by doctor she had this and that disease, and one advised an operation, but she knew she had been constipated all her life so first tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She avoided the operation and now feels better than she ever did. Likewise Mrs. William Appleton of Eddington, Pa., who was badly constipated and now looks her best again after using Syrup Pepsin.

On Sale for 30 Years

Intelligent women are realizing that health and keen outward complexion are two different things, and more and more are taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Over 10 million bottles were bought in drug stores last year, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world! Go to your druggist and buy a bottle. The cost is less than a cent a dose. You will see how much more effective a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin is than tablets, powders or pills, and without shock to the system.

Safe Family Laxative

Use it regularly a day before and a day after the periods. The gentle emptying of the bowels will give you relief, and lessen headaches and congestion. Take a spoonful at bed-time and see how much better you feel in the morning. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics, and entirely safe not only for you but for the youngest child. Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the home for you or some other member of the family may need it any moment to relieve constipation, to break up fevers and colds, to clear up biliousness, indigestion, a pimple, a fever sore and other disturbances that show constipation.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

A better view is being taken of the business outlook.

This is shown by the improvement in quotations for stocks and bonds.

What is the cause, what are the causes, of this increase in confidence?

Washington, mostly.

Tax reduction hopes were turning to certainties. The preference Congress promises to give tax legislation has been prompted by the overwhelming nation-wide demand for tax relief. The business and financial community now feel that neither Republicans nor Democrats will dare flout this demand.

* * *

Business sentiment has been encouraged, also, by indications that bonus legislation will meet very strong opposition.

Again, the feeling is growing that no legislation really hurtful to the railroads will reach the statute books this year.

"Capital," in short, has ceased to be acutely troubled by the political outlook. It is gratified at the way the Coolidge campaign for the presidential nomination [illegible] is making. Finance and business regard Coolidge as "safe and sane."

In influential circles nervousness over European demoralization has been at least somewhat modified. Many feel that the German industrialists, who are apparently the real powers in the country, [illegible] [illegible] France [illegible] costly [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Rep[illegible] movement [illegible] government into a more receptive mood when the American and other representatives get together this week in an effort to draw up a workable settlement with Germany. Unless something practicable be evolved, the franc is likely to sink still farther.

* * *

I have been mixing much with automobile men and attending [illegible] gatherings of leaders [illegible] the last week. It was reassuring to note how sensibly virtually all our responsible motor makers are handling their 1924 activities. The boom they enjoyed last year has not swept them off their feet. For the most part they have [illegible]

In fact, one finds almost all through the business and industrial world a sanity, a balance, which did not rule a year ago.

All things considered, the year has opened encouragingly.

PRODUCERS OIL IS SOLD OFF 2 POINTS

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe slumped more than 9 points before rallying in trading today on the New York Stock Exchange. Story that the pool which has run this stock up the last week has transferred its interests to another issue has been in circulation for the past few days.

Producers & Refiners was a weak oil, off 2 points. The market was fairly steady around early afternoon.

Buying of the foreign oils and some of the steel shares was counteracted by the selling of rails and speculative industrials at the opening, giving it a highly irregular appearance.

Consolidated Cigar advanced a point on report of its merger with Lorillard.

The break in Cast Iron Pipe featured the early dealings, the general list turning heavy before the end of the first half hour.

Hayes Wheel dropped 2½ and Computing, Tabulating & Recording 2, while American Can, Baldwin, Marine Preferred, Chandler Motor, Stewart-Warner, Davison Chemical, Du Pont and Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron dropped a point or more.

There were a few strong spots, American Linseed Preferred rising 3 points and Jewel Tea Preferred and Van Raalt Silk, 1 each.

Heavy realizing and bear selling, [illegible] on the theory that the technical [illegible] the market warrant [illegible] temporary reaction after [illegible] almost steadily [illegible] rising prices, resulted in losses of 1 to 3 points in several score of speculative [illegible] favorites during the morning.

The rails offered good resistance to [illegible] The high priced and [illegible] issues were strong, Maracaibo moving up 3 points to 31, a record, and Atlantic Refining rising 2½. [illegible] buying support was forthcoming toward noon, but it brought [illegible] Call money [illegible]

Wall St. Gossip

WINTER SPORTS BULLETIN

A bulletin received this morning from the headquarters of the Maine Central railroad in Portland, states that conditions are excellent for all Winter sports at Auburn, Augusta, Cornish, Lewiston, Poland Springs and Waterville, Me., and at North Conway and Whitefield, N. H.

All Winter sports except skating may be enjoyed at Bangor, Me.; Bar Harbor, Me.; Bath, Me.; Bartlett, N. H.; Bethel, Me.; Brunswick, Me.; Fabyans, N. H.; Farmington, Me.; Fryeburg, Me.; Gardiner, Me.; Glen and Jackson, N. H.; Intervale, N. H.; Portland, Me.; Rockland, Me.; Winthrop, Me.

The demand for accommodations for Winter sport enthusiasts in Maine and the White Mountains has so increased that the pioneer hotels catering to Winter guests are unable to handle all, and numerous others are now open and equipped to take care of the overflow. Toboggan slides and ski jumps have been built, rinks established and equipment enlarged so that every sport may be enjoyed.

SOUTH SEA ISLAND MAKES IDEAL WINTER TRIP:

One of the most delightful of the Winter trips is through sunny Summer seas to the storied islands of the South seas.

Having crossed the continent by all rail, water and rail, or all water, the traveller embarks from San Francisco by one of Union Steamship Company's steamers for Sydney, a twenty-five-day voyage. Tahati, Ronotonga and Wellington are touched on the way.

To give variety to the trip the tourist may return on the fine vessels of the Royal Mail Line via Auckland, the cosmopolitan city of New Zealand and thence northward to the Fiji Islands. Suva, the capital of Fiji, is the port of call, and from there the steamer proceeds to Honolulu. From Honolulu passengers may continue onward via the Canadian Australasian Line to Vancouver, Can., or they have the option of returning direct to San Francisco.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS OF U. S. A. CONVENE.

The annual convention of the Commission Merchants of the United States will be held at Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 16, 17, 18, 1924.

The Seaboard Air Line is the official route from the East, and two special trains will be operated from New York and Washington, leaving Jan. 13. Jan. 24 will be spent at Pinehurst, N. C., thence to Jacksonville, arriving Tuesday, Jan. 15. The convention forms an ideal meeting place for an exchange of ideas concerning the big business problems. The sessions are open to the public.

Directly following the convention an all Florida and Cuban tour has been arranged by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. This will take in Bradentown, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Plant City, Bartow, Lakeland, Orlando, Sanford, Fort Pierce, West Palm Beach, Miami, Key West and Havana. The return from Havana will be made by steamer to Key West, thence by special train to St. Augustine, Jacksonville and north, east and west by fast trains.

Anyone attending these business sessions cannot fail to come away better equipped to handle 1924 problems.

JAI-ALAI IN MIAMI.

Jai Alai, the new Spanish game being introduced in this country, will be played next Wednesday in Miami, Fla., in the new quarter of a million dollar fronton at Hialeah, just outside the city.

The forty-odd players from Madrid, Spain, who are to play here, arrived in Havana last week, going immediately to Miami. F. H. Serafin, who will be the manager of the fronton, believes that Jai-Alai will prove exceptionally popular in Miami. Arrangements have been completed by Carl G. Fisher for the coming of the Cuban polo, tennis, golf and basketball teams for a series of events to be held here some time during next month.

Some of the finest polo players in the country will be among the Miami Beach players this year.

Among the prominent Bostonians who have recently arrived at Miami are: Harry J. Arnold, Alfred Sears, Charles Baxter and Miss Grace Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Eaton, Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayden, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Flood, Albert Irving Mudgett, F. A. Hillyer, John Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kenney, Herman McIntyre, Miss Mary Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Douglas.

TEAMSTERS TO GET $2 MORE; STRIKE OFF

Question of Hours of Work Is Left to Joint Committee to Decide

More than 1,800 Boston teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers, members of Truck Drivers' Union No. 25, were granted a wage increase of $2 a week, effective from today.

The increase, a compromise on the demand for $1 a day, was granted and accepted on recommendation of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, and averted the threatened teamsters' strike.

Under the new agreement, accepted by almost a unanimous vote, the question of shorter hours is left to a joint committee to be investigated the coming year.

Thirty dollars a week is the new minimum wage and $38 the maximum, based on a graduated scale. The old minimum was $28 and the maximum $36.

On the joint committee as guaranteed by the State Board will be representatives of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Boston Team Owners' Association, and the Truck Drivers' Union. The committee will report by January 1, 1925, when the present agreement expires.

The truck drivers are now working fifty-eight hours a week; they had asked for a forty-nine hour week. This demand, the team owners claimed, they could not grant.

FRENCH CLAIM GAIN IN RUHR OUTPUT

Duesseldorf, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Production in the Ruhr at the end of the first year of the Franco-Belgian occupation shows an excellent increase in activity, according to the French Economic Mission. Officials are prepared for a certain let down in this progress soon, as the German industrialists assert that transportation facilities are inadequate and that bank credits are unavailable, with the result that a number of factories are shutting down while others are threatening to do so. The total output in the Ruhr, French figures indicate, reached per cent. of the 1922 amount.

CHARGES BRITISH SEEK MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, Jan. 14 (C.N.S.).—United States Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee today denounced the bid of the so-called super power trust of the South in its opposition to the bid of Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals as coming from an alien source. He condemned any effort to turn Muscle Shoals over to the Alabama Power Company, which he believes to be controlled by British interests.

PORTO RICANS HERE TO PLEAD CHANGES

New York, Jan. 14.—Eleven commissioners, appointed by the Porto Rican Legislature to seek from President Coolidge and Congress further modifications of the island country's organic law, arrived today. Antonio R. Barcelo, president of the insular Senate, heads the delegates, all of whom are members of the island government.

STELLA DALLAS

By Olive Higgins Prouty

New and Intensely Interesting Serial of a Marriage of an Educated Man to an Untutored Woman

HOW THE STORY STARTED

Stella Dallas and her husband, Stephen, do not live together. They have a daughter, thirteen years old, named Laurel, who stays most of the year with the mother. They visit a Summer hotel in New England, where the other guests look askance at the painted, overdressed elder woman. The time has come for Laurel to visit her father in New York. He meets her at the station and takes her to a hotel. She goes to visit Mrs. Morrison. The story now goes back to the marriage of Stephen and Stella at Millhampton. Stella starts a flirtation with Alfred Munn. The leading women of the town begin to drop her. Stephen, deciding he can never go back to her, starts a divorce suit. The story then goes back to Mrs. Morrison's marriage to her aged millionaire suitor. The latter dies and Stephen confesses his love to the widow. Stella and Laurel get in with a society set at a Summer hotel and Laurel goes canoeing with Richard Grosvenor.

ANECDOTES OF FAMOUS

There is a strange story of how Sir Walter Scott produced "The Bride of Lammermoor," during illness was afterward found in [illegible] original manuscript which he had created [illegible] James Ballantyne. The book was written and published before Mr. Scott was able to [illegible] and [illegible] was first published [illegible] complete shape that [illegible] required a single [illegible] [illegible] of composition.

Or will her rays reflect a fainter [illegible]
Across [illegible] [illegible] streame?"

However Fitzgerald did not begin [illegible] translation until 1856 or later. His first mention of the work was made in a letter of the year 1857, and it may be that the "keepsake" in which he saw the verses was of a [illegible] date than 1845.

There are many amusing stories told of Mrs. Gladstone's absent mindedness, of which the following by Lord Meath are typical. Mrs Gladstone was Lord Meath's aunt.

"On one occasion I received an invitation on a half sheet of paper, and, on turning it over I found it was a tradesman's bill and across it was [illegible] written the words 'That is the tenth application.'

"On another occasion when I was quite grown up I took [illegible] a public meeting and on the platform on one side of me sat my mother and on the other sat Mrs. Gladstone.

"She seemed very pleased with the speech I had [illegible] and finished my remarks she said to my mother, 'Before we [illegible] May I have [illegible] and I was waiting for a reply she embraced me before the whole meeting. NEW WIRELESS RULES HELP CLEAR AIR

Independent Company Still Offends by Accepting Low-Wave Messages, However

The first effects of the recent conference on New York city on code interference were indicated last night, when interference was greatly reduced.

The Independent Wireless Telegraph Company continues to be responsible for a large measure of the remaining interference. Last night, for example, the British steamship Tyrrhenia called WIM, the Radio Corporation of America station at Chatham.

WIM, in accordance with their policy of refusing 600-metre messages, did not answer.

The Tyrrhenia thereupon called WSA, the Independent station at East Hampton, which promptly accepted the message. 600 meters.

INTERFERENCE LOG, JAN. 15.

8.00—On watch. Static moderate. Conditions tonight seem to be only fair. Static quite constant at most times, although with slight fading periods during the evening. Distance was the farthest West I could go with any degree of comfort.

10.52—GJCB (British steamship Tyrrhenia calling WIM, Radio Corporation station at Chatham, with paid message.

9.46—I notice a great many people trying to tune in WNAC, which, after making alterations in their equipment, are not yet on the air. This is a striking example of how people are beginning to choose the nearest stations, where the reception is the strongest, for their evening's entertainment.

Rules for Radio

Here's a tip for Boston landlords, and the Radio Editor highly recommends it.

The superintendent of one of New York's biggest apartment houses has issued a set of radio regulations for tenants. One of these should be printed in boldface type on each flat:

"No one will be allowed to put up an aerial to be seen with a single circuit regenerative set. This simple set is necessary in order to protect tenants from unnecessary interference from said regenerative sets."

THE LISTENER

Have you picked up WTAS in Elgin, Ill., yet? It is beginning to come in very clearly, and their programs are good enough to rank with the best.

A Wollaston amateur broadcaster who has a microphone and signs himself 1 ROS has been heard in Pennsylvania. I heard him telling a friend the other night. By the way he talked he came in on my set. I wouldn't be surprised if he reached out even further than that.

I am strong for the announcer at WOS at Jefferson City, Mo. It takes an awful lot of interference and static to blot out his western twang as he dedicates to some fan each selection broadcast by the station.

WCAP, Washington, that pounds in on my hemidomus like a local station, recently ran a telegraph contest. Of the more than 700 wires received from a surprising number of states, 121 were from Massachusetts fans. The champ wire in the contest, however, was in Woodberne, Oregon.

The eagerly awaited booklet on the Boston American Super is on the way. It will be ready in a few days.

The booklet will have COMPLETE data on the construction and operation of these remarkable sets, including the Baby Super, the Super Dick, and the powerful Daddy Super.

There will be all the different hook-ups needed, full size panel layouts that can be used for templates for drilling the panels, photographs of completed sets showing arrangement of parts, instructions for winding the coils, and other features, all printed on high-grade paper.

How to obtain one of these booklets will be told on this page in a few days.

RADIO FANS, GET IN LINE FOR SUPER TEST

Any Night This Week May Be Chosen to Try for Distance in Receiving

The Boston American wants every Super owner to enter the contest for the best reception report.

The American Storage Battery Co. of Boston, makers of the Harvard storage batteries, offers four of their best radio batteries as prizes.

Any night this week may be chosen by the contestant for a report on the stations received on an American Super.

The prizes are as follows:

First, for the largest number of stations received in one night, a 100-ampere hour Harvard storage battery enclosed in a handsome rubber case.

Second, for the next largest number of nights, an 80-ampere hour battery in a rubber case.

Third, for the third largest number of stations, a 60-ampere hour battery in a rubber case.

Special, for the most distant station received, a 100-ampere hour storage battery enclosed in a polished mahogany case, and finished to look like an integral part of a receiver.

The report of the stations received must include the following data:

Name and address of contestant.

Number of turns on the primary and secondary of radio-frequency couplers.

Type of variable condenser used and maximum capacity.

Calibration of dials, whether from one to 100 or one to 180.

Stations received, including the call letters, exact time heard, selection heard, settings of condenser dials, an approximate distance from Boston in miles.

In cases of ties, the prizes will be awarded for the greatest reports.

It is requested that sets be kept intact after the contest, so that if necessary they may be examined.

Radio Queries

Radio Editor:

Replying to the letter signed R. E. S., West Everett, in which the writer desires the name of the station which was broadcasting Saturday evening January 5, between 9:30 and 11:00, and whose program included several speeches and a song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," this was WGY, broadcasting from the Hotel Huron, a monster banquet of all social employees of the Albany Congressional Districts as part of the national drive for more pay for postal employes. The song was "Yes, We Want More Mazuma."

J. OG.

Boston P. O.

Radio Editor:

Will you please send me the names of the following stations: 9XM and 8XR?

CARL BLODGETT.

Boston.

These are the experimental calls of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and the Entrekin Electrical Company, Columbus, Ohio, respectively.

Radio Editor:

Could you tell me what station I heard at 10:50 tonight which was broadcasting a violin solo. The call letters sounded like KFN. The wave was about 225.

G. R. K.

Newport, R. I.

Probably KFKX, Hastings, Neb.

Radio Receiving Conditions Good Tonight

Radio conditions will be good tonight from points to the North and South.

Boston being in the centre of low pressure area, and a high pressure area extending Westward should cause difficulty in hearing stations to the Westward.

Stations to the North and South, such as Montreal, Providence, Charlotte, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Quebec and New York should be heard very clearly.

HOW TO KEEP WELL
By Dr. Mahoney

By DR. FRANCIS X. MAHONEY, Boston Health Commissioner.

SEED will take root and yield fruit abundantly if planted on fertile soil, but if planted among the rocks will wither and decay.

So it is with the germs of disease. These little measles of mankind are hovering about us almost everywhere, lying in wait, designing to plant themselves in some weak, poorly nourished or careless creature. Many physical apparatus is in a state of low resistance.

Coming in contact with anyone in this state of poor health, the germ takes root, multiplies, gives off rapidly its poisons and soon grips the patient with perhaps a fatal disease.

But if the germ is lodged in the well-nourished individual, whose hygiene is stimulated by proper methods of living, it has as much chance of gaining foothold and thriving as the seed has planted among the rocks.

Dear Doctor,

What is oleomargarine, and is it as good to eat as butter?

Answer—Oleomargarine is composed of a mixture of neutral lard, beef fat and cottonseed oil, churned with milk in order to give it the flavor of butter. It is good to eat, and its consumption in this country is increasing. Of course it is not butter. It lacks the important "vitamines" of butter, and when you order butter and pay for it as such and receive oleomargarine you have been defrauded and deceived. It is far safer to eat than butter of a low grade.

Question: B of Gloucester wants to be informed if saccharin is a slow poison to use in place of sugar for diabetes, and how many can be safely taken daily without ill effects.

Answer: In spite of certain reports, more recent studies and laboratory experiments with saccharin fail to show that it has a deleterious effect on the system, even when used in large amounts. It has no nutritive value such as sugar has. Moreover, the taste of saccharin tends to become very obnoxious to most people after continued use, so perhaps in this way it might have some indirect effect upon digestion. Used in moderate amounts no larger than necessary to give a sufficient taste to food, no danger is to be apprehended from the use of saccharin.

Question: Dr. carrots make the complexion yellow?

MISS S. S.

Answer: No, but there is probably some cause for the belief that carrots may improve the complexion by permitting the deepest of pigment in the skin.

Question: F. B. states that his scalp is very dry and scaly and desires a cure. He has tried many remedies, including tonics, also without results.

Answer: If I were able to tell from the information which you give me how to cure your scalp condition I would commend such an honor that I could not afford to be connected with the Health Department. A scalp condition such as you describe calls for careful examination and study on the part of a skin specialist.

Splendid Tonic

Breath fresh air, not only in day time but during the sleeping hours, not only in Spring and Summer but also in the Autumn and Winter. The old adage still holds, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Remember that fresh air is a splendid tonic. Inhale it whenever you can—but will not get too much—make good every opportunity, for time and sun wait for no man. Breathe through the nostrils, and by so doing you will filter the dust-laden air before it is received into the tender lung cells.

Breathe deeply in the open air and become accustomed to sudden changes of weather. Wet shoes and clothing should be removed as soon as possible. Children, especially, should not visit the thickly settled quarters of a city unless necessary.

Maidcare well the food you eat, and thereby give the saliva an opportunity to carry out its complete function by thorough mixture with the food.

Lunches carried to school or to work or elsewhere should be carefully wrapped, preferably in oiled paper, and should not be allowed to remain where dust accumulates.

Simple but nourishing food should be taken. All meats should be well cooked before using, and milk, if there is any suspicion about its quality, should be boiled before drinking.

It is important in the prevention of all diseases to uphold the body and the mind together "a sound mind in a sound body." Overstudy and overwork tend to weaken the resistance of the body, and due care must be exercised along these lines.

All forms of recreation in the open air are commendable, and gymnastic exercises, as far as possible in the open, and all sports which tend to develop the constitution are excellent preventive measures in the battle against the microbe.

If your suspicion is aroused concerning a threatening disease, it is your first duty to summon your physician, not only to protect yourself, but also to safeguard the publics at large.

The sign of a card on a door denoting a communicable disease within does not mean that it is necessary to take the other side of the street or to avoid the family or friends of the unfortunate patient.

The Health Department of your city does all in its power for your protection, and when you see the card denoting the presence of an infectious disease tacked on the front door of a house you may have full confidence in your health authorities. They investigate and see to it that no outside contamination is spread.

If individuals would co-operate more closely with their local health officials, by obeying their special regulations, less disease and misery would exist.

Nothing will help more to carry on their laudable work than for each and every one to practice the simple common sense rules of hygiene.

Not Member of 101st

Editor Boston American:

In all editions of your paper of January 6, 1924, you carried on account of a theft of U. S. property at the Commonwealth Armory, implicated in which was a man named Knox, and why it was stated is a member of this company.

As that statement is false in every way I ask that you rescind such statement at an early date in paper, as nothing of that sort hurt the morale of my company and the men cannot help but feel hurt as it reflects on their organization.

The Mannish Girl

Editor Boston American:

If girls can smoke and drink like men, the story about it will be over to ahead, take the places of men and become the wage earners for their positive families? Girls like to be mannish until the financial point has been reached—then they back up. Any girl who walks up to a man and asks if he has anything on his hip or if he has a key to not the girl who will later be fit to grace a household as a wife or mother. They've simply made the wrong angle. They don't have to be tough to be popular.

The Finish of Man

Editor Boston American:

Ye gods! Under date of Jan. 4 we read a story about a girl who hooked a guy for marriage, and all, or at least partly, because it was leap year. I can see the finish of the birds who hang around cigar stores and pick their teeth in front of the best hotels. But what I don't understand is why those love-stricken maidens waited three days before deciding on the make or shape of their rolling pin.

Comics Are Great

Editor Boston American:

In response to your query. What do you like best in the American? I desire to state my views. Brisbane Column and Mutt and Jeff are good. Very glad you left out the green paper. That was purely "rotten" taste. Haven't seen any Neil Brinkley "stuff" lately and I hope you have cut that out also. Silly stuff that took up a lot of valuable space. The comics are great.

Too Much Independence May Be Dangerous

But Fortunately None of Us Has Acquired It as Yet

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Every now and then you hear one of your friends announce with great solemnity:

"I am a self-made man. I have fought my way to success unaided, and I can afford to be indifferent to public opinion. What people think of me has never concerned me in the least so long as I pleased myself."

Statements of this kind are often heard among the class of people who have managed to make money or reputation by their own efforts.

In fact, most of us are inclined to believe that everything we have accomplished has been due to our own brains and industry rather than to any help that has been furnished us by other people.

That is one reason why advice as a general thing is foolish.

If a man follows the advice you give him and is SUCCESSFUL, he thinks his success was the result of his own intelligence. If he follows it and FAILS, he blames you for giving it to him.

The idea that we are independent of others, and that we have been the architects of whatever fortunes we happen to possess, is so general that it is worth looking into.

We think that we are strong enough to manage our own affairs, without any outside interference, and yet in almost every direction we find it is NOT OUR OWN WILLS, but the OPINIONS OF OTHERS, that make us do the things we do.

Most young men would rather be considered good fellows than follow the prompting of their own consciences.

They buy drinks which they do not need and cannot afford rather than allow their friends to call them "quitters," a term of derision far more terrible than that of loafer or spendthrift.

The most "independent" of self-made men practice hundreds of little hypocrisies which are merely truckling to public opinion.

They wear clothes of colors and patterns that are selected by a handful of men whom they never saw or heard of.

They build large and expensive houses which they cannot half use or enjoy solely to impress their neighbors.

Their speech, their thoughts, their meals, their very vices are regulated absolutely by what their fellow beings do, and the loudest and most blatant of them have not the moral courage to lead the life they would prefer, and which they would lead if they never were watched by others.

In this cowardice of strong men, in their fear of what others think and say, is the greatest hope of this or any other country which is founded on the idea that the people should be the rulers.

If men of brains and strength were as independent as they think they are, there would be no chance for the majority, UNLESS ALL SUCH MEN WERE PURELY UNSELFISH.

And if you should run over a list of your acquaintances and pick out those who under all circumstances were never influenced by selfishness, your selections would be very few.

But as long as the fear of public opinion prevails there is no danger.

As long as your neighbor and the men in the street have not the courage to do as they please, regardless of the rest of the world, they will not dare band together to take you by the throat or rifle your pockets.

The greatest and most powerful men and corporations fear PUBLICITY as they fear death, not because they think that the discovery of their robberies would anger their privately-owned legislators and office-holders, but because they know that the lawmakers and the weak men they have put into office WOULD FEAR PUBLIC OPINION too much to stand against it, and that as a result Mr. Corporation Director would be put into jail by his OWN FRIENDS if he ever got found out.

There are yet many greedy, grasping men, who appear to be unconcerned about what people think of them so long as they are able to purchase protection, but when the people once realize that they have it in their power to force such men to be honest, the boldest of the robbers will become the most cowardly and cringing of convicted thieves.

We may all prate proudly about our independence and the peace of mind that it brings us, but if we were all as superior to our surroundings and as oblivious to public opinion as we would have ourselves believe, this world would be a pretty unsafe place to live in.

Looking at the News

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

We seem to be nearer establishing relations with Russia. The crimes in Moscow are not so great as those in New York. The Russians take better care of their natural resources than we took care of Teapot Dome oil reserve. Their assaults upon orthodox religion are rougher than ours, but not more effective. They have not ignored their financial obligations any more than France has done. They have not connived at the violation of our laws against smuggling as England has by letting her ports breed rum-runners. And if Mussolini, captain of conservatives, can recognize the Sov'et, why not this Republic, whose form of government has been the constant peril of Kings and Czars?

The young Regent of Japan ruling in place of the Mikado reviews his troops under a heavy guard of cavalry, the parade ground entirely surrounded by police and soldiers. A solitary bomb thrown at the Japanese Royal Palace has frightened the government.

The King of England and his son go about in the streets, seen by all, WITHOUT guard and they are qu'te safe. No attempt has been made upon the life of an English ruler in many a year.

England has learned the art of self-government and especially the importance of letting people talk as they please and as much as they please as long as they refrain from action.

Miss Gloria Foy, musical comedy actress, recently inherited $4,000,000, and her correspondence has leaped to two thousand letters a day, almost all of them proposals of marriage. She is in the same position as Uncle Sam, respecting his suitors from across the Atlantic Ocean.

By Elsie Robinson

ONCE upon a time a stranger, who was a prince in his own country and who had traveled long and wearily, turned toward home. And the stranger's heart was glad, because his journey had been filled with sadness. For years he had wandered over foreign lands seeking content. But wherever he passed only misery met his eye. Little children toiled in the fields and died of neglect. Mothers labored in herds to feed their families. Poor men were cheated and oppressed. Ignorance and sin, suffering and hate, spread like a pestilence across his path. And the stranger, having a gentle heart, could find no joy while such things were. With pitying spirit he passed from land to land, watching the people pray in agony to foreign gods who brooded dumb above their gilded shrine. And now at last he was to return to his own country, where gods of wood and metal had for long been banished. Only love was worshipped in the land which the prince called his home. So gladly he turned his face away from all this misery and made haste to that place where his name was great and honorable and where life would once more be beautiful.

Now as he neared the homeland a curious plan came to the prince.

"I will dismiss my retinue," he said, "and array myself in poor and shabby clothes. So, dressed as a common laborer, I will enter my kingdom and, unobserved, feast my eyes upon a beauty and peace which they have long been denied."

So he did. And as night came down he passed along the streets of the city, amongst the great herd of weary men returning from work. But dismay fell upon him, for instead of the richness and content which he had expected, lo! here was bitterness and filth, poverty and crime, cruelty and hate as terrible as any he had seen in savage lands. There was neither pride nor joy in that herd. Most of them were too weary to speak, but those who spoke muttered angrily against unfairness and oppression. Nor was there aught in the squalid homes to which they went to ease their discontent. Weary wives greeted weary husbands, unhappy children cluttered the doorways for lack of room to play.

All night the stranger tramped the streets of the city, and with each step his heart grew heavier. Viciousness arose like a foul vapor to blot the stars from the sky, misery spread like a slime to trip the foot. And the dawn crouched gray and empty-eyed, as one who watches hopeless by the dead.

And with the morning wrath burned in the heart of the stranger. "Where are the stewards I appointed to guard the place!" he cried to himself. "Surely they must be asleep in their courts and temples. Or they are traveling. Or an enemy has bound them so they may not see the misery that lies at their door."

With angry feet he hastened to the great palace of carved stone and gilded wood and jeweled glass which housed the judges and priests and prophets of the land. "Some disaster has befallen. I will find them silent," he whispered to himself.

But they were not silent. Rather they buzzed with the fat voices of multitudes who came and went oblivious to the dreadful scum of beggars which pressed the door. And of all that multitude none was fatter or more sleek or more oblivious than the judges and prophets and priests who moved in the midst collecting doles and giving benefits in careful ratio thereto.

At sight of this, fury broke loose in the heart of the stranger, and climbing on an empty box he began to denounce those wicked leaders and administers and to call upon the suffering people to arise and right their wrongs. At once a great crowd gathered, curious and amused and sullen. At his words they took fire and began to mill about with fearful mutterings and bloodshot eyes. Then into their midst broke the police, hitting them with clubs, scattering the mob in every direction. And they laid violent hands on the stranger and haled him before the nearest judge.

There he stood in court, ragged and bleeding, with the filth of the city streets upon his face. And the judge surveyed him with disgust and rage.

"Whadda y' mean?" he bellowed, leaning forward from his bench. "Whadda y' mean, starting a rumpus like this and blocking traffic? Why don't you get to work, instead of bawling your head off about the way this country's run? What are you here for if you don't like it? Why don't you go back to the rat holes where the radicals like you are bred? They oughtta run you damn kikes outta the country—spreading anarchy and upsettin' everything. Whatja got to say for yourself? Who are you, anyway?"

Then in a low and bitter voice, like a long lash unfurling, the stranger answered:

"I am Christ."

Six Children Need Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband has been out of work since the first week in October. We have six children, from ten to three years old, and although we were comfortable, we were never able to save much when he was working. He is an expert auto mechanic and driver, but can get no work beyond odd jobs here and there. I would go to work if I could leave the children. Since Thanksgiving we have been having a siege of the mumps. The children are all in need of underclothing, shoes and stockings. We do not have enough food, even, so there is nothing for clothing. I am pretty discouraged as day after day goes by without work. He has to walk around to look for work, as we have no money to spare for car fares very often. We are facing a crisis, soon, and I don't know what to do. If anyone has any work I could do evenings I would be thankful.

Toys to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some used toys that my children have outgrown, suitable for little boys from six to ten, and if you would send the names of a family of children who would care to have them,

DR. FRANK CRANE ON WELCOMING THE BOOK AGENT

By Dr. Frank Crane

I WISH to set down these points in favor of the book agent:

1. We need him because we are prone to neglect books. He does us a real service in calling our attention to our need for food for the mind and character as well as food for the body.

2. Every book agent is an advance agent for culture and for better citizenship, for education and for the spread of intelligence.

3. The book agent should be honored because he brings to our attention as a rule the very books we need most and neglect most. Most of the encyclopedias, gazetteers, anthologies, histories, reference books and authors' complete sets are sold by book agents, and these are the real literary foundation of any household.

4. The book agent as a rule sells us the kind of books the publication of which the publishers are unwilling to undertake without a guarantee of a certain amount of sales, the kind of books that could not well be sold in ordinary book stores. Yet these are the very kind of books we ought most to have. The great Audubon had to get subscribers for his monumental work before he could find a publisher.

5. Book agents are usually persons of character and standing. Very many of them are college boys or girls or teachers who are bringing to the business of book selling a real enthusiasm of culture. The people who sell books as a rule are worthy to enter any man's door.

6. The book agent is a literary specialist. We consult an eye specialist, an ear specialist, or a nerve specialist: why should we not have the advantage of talking with a book specialist before we purchase our literature. The book agent explains to us exactly what the sort of book is which he represents, and we buy, therefore, something we know about and something which we need.

7. Nearly all books sold by the book agent are usually in plain and popular language. Many of the authoritative books on science, theology, law and business are all right for the schoolroom, but it takes a college professor to understand them. When a book upon any of these subjects is brought to our notice by the book agent, however, it is usually one written in language that we can understand and thus brings culture and knowledge to our reach.

8. Salesmanship is essential. It is an honorable and necessary profession. Every one of us is a salesman in one way or another. The lawyer is trying to induce the jury to accept his ideas, the preacher is trying to pursuade his congregation, the doctor is trying to bring us to his point of view in regard to our health and the real estate agent, carpenter, dry goods merchant or any other kind of business man is endeavoring to meet our wants in the particular articles he has to offer. And surely it is as high business to bring to us the goods of the mind, of the higher values of life such as we find in books, as it is to sell us any other goods.

9. The book agent is a very important factor in our great educational system. He does much to disseminate knowledge and right ideas. The Holy Bible has been sold for years by book agents and many a home possesses a Bible which it would not have were it not for the agent.

10. When you buy a book of an agent, you get a better idea of what you are buying than you do when you purchase elsewhere, for he is well acquainted with his book and can give you the advance information about it which you desire.

These are some of the reasons, to my mind, why we should welcome the book agent, should treat him with respect and listen to him with attention.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON DEAD HEAT COLORS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

USING for signals the light transmitted from a large number of very short period variable stars belonging to a star-cluster 40,000 light-years (235 thousand trillions of miles) distant, Harlow Shapley, the director of the Harvard Observatory, has demonstrated that blue and yellow light differ in their velocity through space by less than one part in 20,000 millions. That is virtually the same thing as saying that there is no difference in the velocity with which light of different colors travels through the universe.

Blue light waves are considerably shorter than yellow ones, in the ratio of about 9 to 11, but together with red (still longer than yellow) and orange, green, violet and indigo, the other spectral hues that have recognized names, they form a company of vibrations which, in combination, produce the effect known as white light.

Keep Step

And this company, from the longest-legged red down to the shortest-legged violet, appears to keep step so perfectly that after traveling in serried ranks for forty thousand years at a speed of 186,330 miles per second, the short-legged and the long-legged all come in smiting together, shoulder to shoulder, and side by side, so perfectly attuned that a West Point drill master, armed with a billion-fold magnifier, would be unable to discover the least irregularity!

This experiment with quickly varying stars in a star-cluster serving for signal lights furnishes another example of the happy chances that nature affords to the inquiring mind of man. Another striking instance is that of the moon, in producing eclipses of the sun.

If the moon had been either larger or smaller than it is, or situated at a greater or less mean distance, we might never have discovered the extraordinary and very instructive phenomena of the solar corona. But the moon's size and distance are so adjusted that her angular diameter appears almost the same as the sun's, so that usually, when she eclipses the sun, her globe covers the sun's disk with very little lapping, thus permitting the luminous phenomena close to the solar orb to be seen from an average glowing around a black circular screen.

The star-cluster selected for experimentation on the light velocity was the one known in astronomical catalogues as Messier 5. It is situated in the constellation Libra, has a globular form, and contains among its great multitude of stars nearly a hundred variables, having a period of only from six to twenty hours, the average period being thirteen hours. It also contains a few long-period variables.

Winking Signals

These stars, on the average, are more than twice as bright at maximum as at minimum. They are gigantic suns whose light (and no doubt heat) doubles in a few hours, and in a few hours more falls off in an equal ratio. Perhaps it is not worth while trying to imagine what would happen on the earth if our sun behaved in that way.

These variations serve as "winking" signals. With photographic plates and light filters, used with a very large telescope, it is possible to record separately the light curves of the blue and the yellow, as the star alternately brightens and fades. Comparison of the curves should reveal any measurable difference in the time of arrival.

Dr. Shapley reports that "the mean result for the difference in time required for the passage of blue and yellow light over a distance of 40,000 light-years," is minus 10 seconds, plus or minus 60 seconds. "The probable error so far exceeds the observed mean difference that the latter has no numerical significance."
